HURRICANE ENDS IN MISSISSIPPI

After Passing Along Gulf Coast It Blows Itself Out in Mississippi — Communications Again Restored

FLORIDA DEATH TOLL IS NOW FOUR HUNDRED

Another One Hundred and Fifty Are Missing, Five Thousand Injured and Fifty Thousand Homeless

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—Leaving a long trail of destruction and hundreds of dead, injured and homeless, the tropical hurricane, which came out of the Bahamas Friday to race across Southern Florida, and along the eastern Gulf coast, finally has blown itself out in Southern Mississippi.

With direct communication restored to the last of the isolated cities, Pensacola, it appears that there was no loss of life along the Gulf, although the wind at times reached a velocity of 120 miles an hour, comparable to that which leveled towns on the Southeastern Florida coast, leaving at least 400 dead, 150 or more missing, 5,000 injured, and 50,000 homeless.

Property damage in Pensacola was estimated at $2,000,000, but at Mobile the loss was less than half that amount. Smaller towns in Alabama and Mississippi suffered some loss, and crops in the southern sections of these States were badly damaged.

Property Damage
A report sent from the naval station at Pensacola to the Navy Department at Washington, told of severe damage to the station. There was no loss of life.

Pensacola felt the full fury of the hurricane which swept out of the Gulf Monday, a wind which reached a velocity of 100 miles an hour reaching there for more than two hours. Property damage was estimated at two million dollars.

This information was given tonight to the American Telephone and Telegraph Company office at Mobile from the wires of the company in Pensacola when communication was established for a short time. The information was given by a representative of The Pensacola Journal.

Wharf Front Demolished
According to the information from Pensacola all the wharf front of the city was demolished.

That Pensacola was in the centre of the hurricane as it reached the Gulf coast was evinced by the wind velocity, which was the highest at any point on the Gulf, and equal to that recorded at Miami.

Electrical plants and street cars are out of commission, and it was stated service could not possibly be restored for several days.

The barometer at Pensacola fell 24.16, and rainfall was more than six inches.

At Miami
MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 21.—At least 400 dead; 150 or more missing; 5,000 injured and 50,000 homeless. This was the known sum tonight of human life and suffering in the cities and towns along Florida's southeastern coast in the tropical hurricane.

At Miami the death toll increased as Biscayne Bay gave up more of its dead. Authorities said the list probably would reach 250, although it was around 200 tonight. Hospitals and Red Cross stations here treated more than 3,000 injured during the day, most of them only slightly hurt. At Hollywood the list of known dead was 32, with possibly eight other bodies to be brought in, and with seventy persons listed as missing.

Missing—Not Dead
Earlier reports had included many of the missing as definitely dead, and the total had been announced as continued on Page 2

SAYS FISHERIES HAVE PROTECTION

MR. W. A. FOUND DECLARES CONDITIONS ARE GOOD ON WEST COAST

Here in Connection With International Halibut Commission Sessions on Coast

MR. W. A. Found, Director of Fisheries Service for Canada, who is en route to attend the International Commission under the Halibut Treaty, declared in an interview last night that conditions on the West Coast of Vancouver Island were most favorable.

Mr. Found said that he had investigated new developments in the reduction of pilchard and found that they were very satisfactory. He declared that there were now fourteen plants employing more than 1,000 white men. Business, he says, is carried on in an efficient, sanitary way in the plants.

Owing to the demand for salmon, he explains, fishermen are making every effort to make a large catch. He remarks that regulations for the protection of fisheries have been enforced on all parts of the coast, and that this coast is receiving adequate protection. Mr. Found said that the pack of sockeyes will be smaller this year than the last, but there will be a larger pack of pinks.

In answer to an interrogation as to whether there was any poaching going on in the West Coast, Mr. Found said that he did not know of any such condition.

Mr. John P. Hinchcock, B.C. Deputy Commissioner of Fisheries and chairman of the commission, is making arrangements for the next meeting to be held Friday in Vancouver, which will be attended by the other members of the body from Canada and the United States.

At the meeting the work of the year will be reviewed by the commission following reports by scientists on the fishing waters off the coast of British Columbia and Alaska.

Major J. A. Motherwell, Chief Inspector for British Columbia, is accompanying Mr. Found on this inspection.

VIVID TALE TOLD AT INQUEST IN MERRITT

Seventh Foreman Heard Boar Like Thunder Coming Down Track—Engineer Did His Best

MERRITT, B.C., Sept. 21.—Vivid description of the runaway of the Kettle Valley Railway freight train on the steep down grade in the tortuous Coquihalla Valley, east of Hope, before it jumped the track at a curve and plunged over a bridge with a loss of possibly a dozen lives, September 8, were given by eyewitnesses at the inquest held here.

Fred Barnard, roadmaster at Hope, who was in charge of salvage operations, testified that the remains of at least eight or ten men were found, and that they were so badly burned that it was quite possible that, as other evidence suggested, others had perished in the wreck. Only one body, that of Engineer Marks, he said, could be identified.

"Tony" Pascall, section foreman at Jossias, a short distance above the scene of the disaster, said that the train had passed him "too fast to count me or anyone living," after Charles Hamilton, watchman, six miles up the line, had testified that it was travelling about thirty-five miles an hour at that spot.

Engineer Kept His Head
"I heard a roar like thunder coming down the track that still Sunday morning," said Pascall, "I stepped outside my cabin and then I saw the train coming as fast as it could go. Mr. Marks, the engineer, was standing on the coal of the tender as the train whizzed past me in a cloud of dust. He leaned out and shouted, 'Call the dispatcher.' At the same time, he pointed to the telephone. I understood what he wanted and rushed to the telephone and called up the dispatcher. I could not tell him very well because I was so excited. But he said, 'I never saw a train go so fast in my life. Just after it went by I heard the crash.'"

Yaquis and Mexicans Have Another Battle

NOGALES, Ariz., Sept. 21.—A dispatch to The Herald today from Guaymas, Sonora, Mexico, said that seventy-five soldiers and twenty-eight Yaqui Indians had been killed in a battle four kilometers north of Tlaxiaca station. The message said a large number had been wounded on both sides.

PARIS INSPECTS ENTENTE POLICY

Cordial Understanding With Germany Looks Like Good Plan, But Idea Must Be Turned Over Carefully

PREMIER POINCARÉ IS SKEPTICAL BUT WILLING

He Is Ready to Try It Once Though He Is Not Confident — M. Briand Partly Reassures Colleagues

PARIS, Sept. 21.—The proposed "Entente Cordiale" between France and Germany, growing out of recent interchanges between Foreign Minister Stresemann and M. Briand, was discussed at a Cabinet meeting today. It was semi-officially declared after the Cabinet adjourned, that there had been no hint of discord.

It was affirmed in well-informed circles, however, that M. Marin and M. Barthou expressed four as to any generous offers which might be made without a guarantee of ample consideration before being accepted. Premier Poincaré was said to be doubtful over the matter, but inclined to leave Foreign Minister Briand a free hand.

M. Briand is understood partly to have reassured the objecting members of the Cabinet by pointing out that France is not obligated to anything, and that the whole question is now in a tentative stage and will remain so until Foreign Minister Stresemann talks with the Berlin Government.

VETERANS TO BEGIN CONVENTION TODAY

DELEGATES ARRIVED YESTERDAY—MAYOR PENDERAY DINNER GATHERING TONIGHT

Mayor Penderay Will Extend Official Welcome of Victoria to Second Convention to Be Held Here

When the Army and Navy Veterans of Canada Convention here assembles this morning, it will have before it a four days' business programme, in which the question of the relation to the new Canadian Legion of the British Empire Service League will occupy a foremost place.

Two principal social features will intersperse the business programme, a dinner this evening, at which a number of leading speakers will attend, and a reception at the Crystal Garden on Friday evening.

The chairman of the dinner will be Major-General the Hon. W. A. Griehach, of Edmonton, the Dominion president, and the case for the Canadian Legion will be put by its Dominion president, Lieut.-General Sir Percy Lake, the distinguished general, who is a resident of Victoria.

The general officers of the association are: President, Senator the Hon. W. A. Griehach; first vice-president, Major H. E. Gates, Halifax; second vice-president, Col. J. Drummond, Calgary; third vice-president, Mr. George J. Gardiner, Victoria; fourth vice-president, Col. J. P. Hinchcock, Montreal; Dominion secretary-treasurer, Capt. H. C. Colbourne.

A smoking concert was held at the club quarters of the Victoria unit last evening, most of the delegates having by that time arrived.

The association has an active ladies' auxiliary, and for its delegates a number of entertainment features have been planned.

The general officers of the association are: President, Senator the Hon. W. A. Griehach; first vice-president, Major H. E. Gates, Halifax; second vice-president, Col. J. Drummond, Calgary; third vice-president, Mr. George J. Gardiner, Victoria; fourth vice-president, Col. J. P. Hinchcock, Montreal; Dominion secretary-treasurer, Capt. H. C. Colbourne.

Small Paraguay City HAS HURRICANE ALSO

One Hundred and Fifty Persons Said to Be Killed and Five Hundred Injured

ENCARNACION, Paraguay, Sept. 21.—A hurricane struck this city last night, killing about 150 persons, injuring 500 others and causing damage estimated at $1,000,000. The lower part of the city was completely wiped out and a number of houses in the Parana River were capsized.

In the most seriously affected district, virtually all the buildings were destroyed, including two banks, two hotels and the Customs house. The streets are blocked with debris and trees uprooted. Much damage has been done to docks. The power plant collapsed, plunging the city in darkness.

Relief Work
Relief work was hurriedly started notwithstanding the torrential rain and violent gale. Fourteen wounded have thus far been removed from debris. The authorities have taken measures to prevent looting. Medical supplies and foodstuffs have been rushed here from other cities.

Many of the injured have been taken across the river to Posadas, Argentina.

Encarnacion, capital of the Department of the same name, is situated on the Alta Parana River, 230 miles from Asuncion, capital of Paraguay. It has a population of about 35,000 and is the centre of a rich agricultural and grazing district. It produces tobacco, hides and timber.

A ferry connects Encarnacion with the Argentine town of Posadas, just across the River Parana.

Encarnacion was established by the Jesuits in 1614.

Official Is Host to Superintendents' Party

MR. J. P. DOUGHERTY

TODAY WITNESSES START OF PARLEY

INSURANCE SUPERINTENDENTS OF CANADIAN PROVINCES HERE FOR CONFERENCE

Attorney-General Manson and Mayor Penderay to Greet Delegates—Extensive Programme

Today will witness the opening sessions of the four-day conference of the Association of Superintendents of Insurance of the Provinces of Canada, which will take place in Victoria at the Empress Hotel.

Delegates from the provinces of the West will be in attendance at this important gathering, at which subjects of importance to the realm of insurance will be discussed.

Mr. J. P. Dougherty, superintendent of insurance for British Columbia, through whose efforts the conference is being held in this province this year, went over to the Mainland to greet visitors on their way to the convention here. The delegates were feted in the Terminal City yesterday by the Vancouver Associations of Fire, Life and Casualty Insurance Agents, the programme of entertainment including a sightseeing trip around Vancouver and environs and dinner in the evening at the Hotel Vancouver.

Hon. A. M. Manson, Attorney-General of British Columbia, and Mayor Penderay, of Victoria, will greet the insurance leaders on behalf of the province and city this morning at 10 o'clock at the Empress Hotel.

The business of the conference will be dealt with under four main headings, namely: General, life, fire and casualty insurance. Important addresses will be delivered at the sessions, and a fine programme of entertainment has been arranged for the enjoyment of the visitors.

Two American visitors at the convention will be Hon. H. O. Fishback, of Olympia, Wash., commissioner of insurance for the State of Washington, and Will Moore, of Salem, Ore., superintendent of insurance for the State of Oregon.

The superintendents of insurance for the various provinces of Canada are as follows: British Columbia, Mr. J. P. Dougherty; Alberta, Mr. Henry Bruce; Saskatchewan, Mr. A. E. Sher; Manitoba, Mr. Charles Heath; Ontario, Mr. H. Leighton Foster; and Quebec, Mr. O. B. Sharpe.

Officers of the Superintendents' Association are: Mr. Charles Heath, president; Mr. H. Leighton Foster, vice-president; and Mr. R. L. Loughton, secretary-treasurer. Mr. W. J. Smell is the conference secretary.

Vancouver Reception
VANCOUVER, Sept. 21.—Enroute in Victoria to attend the annual meeting of the Association of Superintendents of Insurance, which opens tomorrow, a party of prominent eastern officials arrived here today, and were entertained by local insurance men at a dinner tonight.

Mayor Taylor extended the city's official welcome to the visitors. Mr. E. E. Burton, president of the Board of Trade, urged a uniform insurance for the whole of Canada, and he hoped that the superintendents at this meeting would take some step to do away with conflicting legislation of the different provinces. The party included: Messrs. Lyman Root, T. G. McInnes, T. L. Murray and Charles Heath, all of whom are members of the Association.

Mr. J. A. Main, a prominent insurance man from Manitoba; A. Evans, of Vancouver; J. A. Lewis, J. E. Laidlaw, D. Campbell, A. G. Goodman and R. Leighton Foster, Superintendent of Insurance for Ontario; and W. E. Dawson, H. H. Campbell and W. E. Fischer, Superintendent of Insurance for Saskatchewan.

ROYAL MARRIAGE IS ROMANCE IT IS SAID

BRUSSELS, Sept. 21.—A real love match will soon give Belgium a Crown Princess. King Albert and Queen Elisabeth today gave to the press word of the engagement of their son, Prince Leopold, the twenty-four-year-old heir apparent in the Belgian throne, and Princess Astrid, the twenty-year-old daughter of the Duke of Vauxhall and niece of King Gustaf of Sweden. News of the engagement was made public in Stockholm. All Belgium today was aglow with enthusiasm over the royal match, partly because of the popularity of the Prince and partly because of the fact that the union was frequently arranged in the engagement was the fact that Prince Leopold is a Roman Catholic and Princess Astrid a Protestant. The usual agreement, however, was reached whereby the Princess has pledged herself not to interfere with the rearing of any children of the marriage in the Catholic Church, although she will remain within her own religion.

CUSTOMS MAY GO TO MR. W. D. EULER

Ottawa Now Mentions Member-Elect for North Waterloo as Head of Department to Be Reformed

MR. FORKE RETURNS TO CONSULT PROGRESSIVES

It Is Believed That He Carries With Him Invitation to Take Place in Ministry—Maritime Names

OTTAWA, Sept. 21.—Cabinet making continues here with Mr. Mackenzie King seeing former ministers, prospective ministers, and others at Laurier House. At the same time the members of the retiring Government are engaged in preparing for their departure, which is to take place on Thursday. What will probably be the final meeting of the present Cabinet is set for tomorrow, and Mr. Meighen will probably wait upon His Excellency the following day.

There is still a good deal of conjecture about the portfolios of Public Works, Customs, National Defence, Postoffice and Immigration. The others will probably all be filled by the Ministers in the last King Government who administered them, with the exception of the Minister of Commerce. For this portfolio Mr. James Malcolm, of North Bruce, seems to be the probable choice.

Customs Minister
The name of Mr. W. D. Euler, member-elect for North Waterloo, is now mentioned in connection with the Customs Department. Mr. Euler has been in Ottawa for some days and will probably be in the city tonight or tomorrow. He has been mentioned as Cabinet material on previous occasions when Mr. King engaged in selecting his ministers.

Mr. Robert Forke has returned to Winnipeg, and it is now suggested that he carries with him an invitation to enter the Cabinet possibly as Minister of Immigration or Agriculture. He goes home, it is rumored, to consult his fellow Liberal-Progressives as to what course he should pursue.

Col. J. L. Ralston, of Halifax, is considered a possibility for the Department of National Defence, formerly administered by another Nova Scotia Liberal, Mr. E. M. MacDonald. Hon. Lucien Cannon, former Solicitor-General, may be the new Postmaster-General. Hon. H. J. Veniot is regarded as a likely selection for the New Brunswick representative, but whether he will enter with or without portfolio remains to be seen.

PUBLISHERS COMING OF WEEKLY PRESS

British Columbia and Alberta Association Will Convene Here Two Days This Week

Arrangements are in progress for the annual convention of the British Columbia and Alberta Weekly Newspaper Association, which will hold its meetings in Victoria on Friday and Saturday.

The delegates at the convention will be Mr. J. A. Bates, of White Rock, is the president. The local newspapers will entertain the delegates at a dinner on Friday evening.

On Saturday afternoon the lady members will be entertained by the members of the Victoria Press Club for a drive in the vicinity of the city.

WYE COLLEGIANS LIKE EXPERIENCE ON FARMS

They Have Spent Six Weeks in Saskatchewan Harvesting and Doing Odd Jobs on Wet Days

WINNIPEG, Man., Sept. 21.—A septette of satisfied harvesters reached Winnipeg this morning on their way to England, the first of the forty boys from Wye Agricultural College who have spent the past six weeks on Saskatchewan farms, gaining first-hand knowledge of Canadian methods. The boys, who have been located with farmers in the vicinity of Arcola and Kerrobert, are loud in their praise of the treatment given them, and feel that their experience has broadened their conception of farm labor and the opportunities there are in Canada for men who really want to work and succeed.

Although the weather has been poor, the lads have seen all angles of farm work. Stinking and threshing was about all the kind of work the grain they experienced, for which they were paid five dollars per day, and on wet days they did the house and the farm painting, mending barns, chipping wood, and the thousand and one small jobs necessary for the upkeep of the farm, for which they received from one dollar to one fifty per day.

Two of the first group will go to Uganda in East Africa to teach in an agricultural college there. They leave tonight for Toronto and Niagara Falls, and will sail on the Montreal from Montreal the end of the week. The rest of the party will assemble in Winnipeg and leave on Monday next for the East, visiting the Agricultural College at St. Anne de Bellevue.

Speaker of Senate Visits in Victoria

HON. HEWITT BESTOCK

Of Monte Creek, who is staying here on a brief visit before the reopening of Parliament.

King Gives Dinner To Crown Prince, Engaged to Niece

STOCKHOLM, Sept. 21.—King Gustaf gave a dinner to-night in honor of Crown Prince Leopold, Belgian heir apparent, and fiancée of Princess Astrid, the King's niece. The dinner was attended by the royal family, members of the Cabinet, and the Minister of Belgium.

King Gustaf himself offered the toast to the betrothed couple.

CONGRESS PRAISES PRESIDENT MOORE

OVERWHELMING ENDORSEMENT GIVEN—MANY DELEGATES EULOGIZE HIM

Resolution Passed Against "Unfair" Competition With Railways—Liability Insurance

MONTREAL, Sept. 21.—An attempt on the part of Mr. John W. Bruce, organizer of the United Association of Plumbers, Gas and Steam Fitters, at today's session of the Dominion Trades and Labor Congress, now assembled here, to do away with the regular yearly salary for the president of the Congress, ended after much debate in wholesale endorsement of President Tom Moore.

Only Mr. Bruce himself voted for his motion. In the course of his speech, which also urged that there should be a part-time president employed at the rate of $12 a day and expenses, Mr. Bruce criticized President Moore. But delegate after delegate rose to eulogize the work of the president.

President Eulogized
Delegate J. W. Wilkinson, of Edmonton, said that never at any time in its history had the Congress a president who enjoyed the respect of the public and the confidence of the general public, and of the governing bodies of Canada, more than now.

A warning to labor men that they should not rely too much on aid from agencies outside the organization was given to the Congress by Mr. A. O. Wharton, president of the International Association of Machinists of America. Mr. Wharton was one of those within labor ranks who wanted industrial and economic conditions revolutionized over night, who did more harm within the ranks of labor than men actually paid by the employers could do the movement.

While conditions on this continent were not as good as could be wished, it was only necessary to make comparisons with the workers' conditions in other lands to realize the benefits which had flowed from the building up of the international labor movement of the North American continent.

Motor Coach Competition
Railway brotherhoods intend to fight for legislation which will allow with unfair bus competition against railway service, declared Mr. J. A. P. Haydon, of Ottawa, representative of the Brotherhood, today in addressing the Congress.

The convention unanimously approved of a resolution providing for legislation which would control in greater detail the operation of moving picture machines, including the examination of operators of such machines.

A resolution was approved asking that the manufacture of clothing in the home, the wages of earners be entirely eliminated by law.

The convention adopted a resolution to provide more stringent regulations in the matter of granting licenses to drive motorcars, and providing also that all motorcar owners should take out public liability insurance when being granted licenses.

HARD FROST FOLLOWS BLINDING SNOW STORM

CALGARY, Sept. 21.—Followed by one of the coldest spells of weather which has struck Calgary this season, September 21, the traditional "last day" of summer here was a blinding snow storm which blanketed the city by nightfall in four inches of white snow, and held the local temperature down to eight degrees of frost on the average all day. The lowest temperature was felt during the early hours of the morning, when the mercury dropped to twenty above zero, or twelve degrees of frost.

LORD BYNG MAKES FAREWELL SPEECH

Ontario Bids Farewell With Notables of Province Gathered in Honor of Retiring Governor-General

VICTOR OF VIMY GIVEN OVATION BY ASSEMBLY

Will Carry Reminiscences of "Canada Throughout Life, He Says—Ties Can Never Fade or Withers

TORONTO, Sept. 21.—Ontario officially bade farewell and good speed tonight to the retiring Governor-General of Canada, Lord Byng, and to Lady Byng. In terms expressing loyalty to the Crown, Premier Howard Ferguson addressed their Excellencies at a banquet tendered to them by the Ontario Government. His Honor Col. Harry Cockshutt, the Lieutenant-Governor, and Rt. Hon. Sir James Mulock, Chief Justice of the Ontario Supreme Court, added their adieu to that of the Prime Minister.

When the victor of Vimy rose to reply cheer upon cheer arose from the assembly. "Ties that have been so deeply rooted, ties that have been consecrated by such endearing reminiscences, can never fade or wither," Baron Byng said after recounting briefly his admiration for the 100,000 Canadian troops who stormed Vimy Ridge on April 9, 1917, and his optimism for the future of Canada.

And to our dying day we shall remember with feelings which cannot be expressed in words the extraordinary marks of confidence and goodwill we have received from your citizens.

"I am going home with an optimism about Canada that nothing can shake," the Governor-General said, amid cheers. "I have seen your country and your people, and I go home optimistic more than ever for the Dominion."

SPOTS ON SUN VISIBLE HERE

MAY BE OBSERVED THROUGH SMOKED GLASS, MR. NAPIER DENISON SAYS

Group of Spots Estimated to Be 125,000 Miles Long—Will Disappear September 27

During the past week an abnormally large spot and a group of smaller ones have been observed on the surface of the sun through the small telescope at the Dominion Meteorological Observatory, Grenville Heights, and at the present time can be seen through a smoked glass without the aid of a telescope. Mr. F. Napier Denison, superintendent of the Observatory, announced last night.

On the seventeenth of this month Professor Peters, of the U.S. Naval Observatory at Washington, stated that this sun-spot group was 125,000 miles long and was one of the largest observed for many years. He believes that still larger spots will appear, for the sun is approaching the maximum of the eleven-year sun-spot cycle.

In 1923 the sun-spot cycle was at its minimum when for months no spots were visible. Large sun spots are increasing in number and size by the end of 1923 the next maximum of spots will occur. Owing to the sun's rotation this great spot will disappear around the edge of the disk about the twenty-seventh and may occur on the opposite edge at about October 11.

Yesterday Mr. Denison reported that another large sun spot had appeared and that this would be visible for some days.

DUTCH SOLDIERS WERE THIRSTY ON HOT DAY

Netherlands Run True to Traditional Form—Refused More Beer, Are Rebellious

AMSTERDAM, Sept. 21.—The successful demand of soldiers of the twelfth regiment for more beer after a long march in brilliant hot weather, caused a mutiny at Assen yesterday, which resulted in the death of a non-commissioned officer and the wounding of a number of soldiers.

When the troop, which consisted of men called up for annual training, demanded the additional beer, canisters refused to comply, whereupon the men smashed their harvest windows and wrecked the canisters.

Officers, being unable to quell the disturbance, summoned the guard, which fired a volley in the air. This only incensed the men. A volley of hall cartridges then was fired and a non-commissioned officer, who had taken no part in the disturbance, was killed and a number of privates were wounded.

The Dutch press recently has reported dissatisfaction among the troops because of scanty food, but they were trained extensively during the hot summer months.

Embargo on Gold Export Is Retained by Japan

TOKYO, Sept. 22.—Minister of Finance Chikuma Katano, in press interviews today stated that the likelihood of the Government lifting the embargo on export of gold notwithstanding that the exchange value of the yen has reached par. He said the economic condition of Japan does not warrant raising the ban. The embargo will not be lifted until the stability of economic conditions has been fully recovered.

MR. P. W. BELL WILL APPEAL DECISION

MR. JUSTICE MURPHY GRANTS
CITY INJUNCTION IN THE WESTHOLME CASE

Court Judgment Restrains Mr. Bell
From Proceeding With Inquiry
Reopening Issue

An appeal against the judgment of Mr. Justice Murphy, which granted the city of Victoria an injunction restraining Mr. Peter Warren Westholme Bell from reopening matters in connection with the Westholme Lumber Company contracts over the Rooke Waterworks system, will be launched by Mr. Bell, the defendant. Announcement to this effect was made to The Colonist yesterday by Mr. W. J. Taylor, K.C., who acted for Mr. Bell during the recent suit of the city against him.

In handing down judgment in the city of Victoria vs. Bell suit, Mr. Justice Murphy gave his decision in favor of the plaintiff, granting the city everything it sought in its statement of claim and costs. The city asked for a declaration that there were no outstanding issues to be settled between the city and the Westholme Lumber Company, and for an injunction restraining Mr. Bell from taking any action whatsoever in the controversy.

Mr. Justice Murphy's judgment was as follows: "In my opinion I am bound by the cases of Page vs. Page, 22 B.C.R. 185, and Merchants Bank vs. Bush (1918), 1 W.W.R. 283, to wholly disregard paragraph 18 of the statement of defence.

"This leaves the allegations in the statement of claim as if they were admitted. From these it appears that in 1914 the Court of Appeal, in an action brought by the liquidator of the Westholme Lumber Company, Ltd., against the present plaintiff and present defendant as co-defendants, held that the questions the defendant now proposes to inquire into were barred by statutes dealing with limitations of action. It is argued that this decision applies to that particular action only and that since the original action in which the undertaking now in question was given is still pending, insofar as matters affected by such undertaking are concerned, the case cited has no application.

Many vs. Manby, 3 Ch. D. 101, is cited in support. "There is no evidence before the court of what issues are still pending in the original action, nor is there any evidence of the terms of the undertaking stated to have been given by counsel at the final hearing thereof. Several letters were put in, but their contents were not proven, and therefore, they prove only such admissions as they contain and then only as against the person writing the

Railwayman Wins Gold Medal for Bravery

HEROISM of outstanding merit found a fitting reward recently when Mr. E. W. Beatty, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, presented Mr. J. R. Partridge, an employee of the company, with the gold medal of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. Partridge's bravery was displayed twelve months ago at the rock and mud slide at Yoho. At great risk of his own life, Partridge scrambled through the darkness over rough boulders and other obstacles and saved the lives of five men, who would have been swept to death. He also rushed to flag an oncoming train, thereby preventing further possible loss of life. "To me," remarked President Beatty, when making the presentation at Calgary, "his heroism was very conspicuous. This act of heroism and resourcefulness has been recognized by the company. It has been recognized by The Liberty Magazine, which presented him with a cheque for $1,000, and it has been recognized by his fellow workers."

Mr. Beatty is here personally congratulating Mr. Partridge after the presentation. Particular letter containing the admission of the medal from the company, the liquidator's action was brought for the express purpose of ascertaining if the defendant had any duties to perform because of the position of matters in the original action. If so, the suggested distinction is non-existent, and the case at bar is res judicata.

"If the court is not entitled to draw this inference then, taking the allegations in the statement of claim as admitted, it is clear that the statutory provisions for the limitation of action must operate to prevent any inquiry such as defendant proposes to engage upon."

"The plaintiff is entitled to judgment as asked in the statement of claim. Under the rules the costs must follow the event."

When the city of Victoria vs. Bell action was being heard in the Supreme Court, Mr. H. A. Maclean, K.C., and City Solicitor H. S. Pringle appeared for the plaintiff corporation, while Mr. Bell, the defendant, was represented by Mr. W. J. Taylor, K.C., and Mr. R. C. Lowe.

PROTEST AGAINST CEMETERY PROJECT

Mainland Delegation Lays Views Before Cabinet—Point Grey Receives Suggestion

Protesting against the proposed establishment of a burial park within the Provincially-owned Point Grey subdivision, a representative delegation from Vancouver waited upon the Provincial Cabinet yesterday, and told the government why they opposed the new Point Grey cemetery scheme. The delegation pointed out to the Government that the establishment of a cemetery in Point Grey would depress the value of contiguous property purchased by people who had no idea that they would be near a graveyard. Greater Vancouver had cemetery facilities ample for the next 100 years, it was stated.

A suggestion was offered by Reeve Paton, of Point Grey, that Point Grey purchase the proposed cemetery site and use it as a golf links. He went so far as to state that he would be prepared to recommend to the Point Grey ratepayers that they buy the land in question for this purpose.

Full consideration of the whole question was promised by Premier Oliver to the delegation. The delegation that laid the views of Greater Vancouver's opposition to the cemetery project comprised Mr. J. B. Thompson, chairman of the citizens' committee which is against the cemetery scheme; Reeve Paton, Councillors Dr. R. N. Fraser, W. Loat and T. Reid, of Point Grey; and Mr. H. C. Green.

LAYMEN SUPPORT NEW CATHEDRAL CAMPAIGN

Several Address Island Congregations on Sunday—Dean Quinton Emphasizes Meaning of Stewardship

Laymen spoke in a number of Anglican churches in the city and island Sunday, telling the congregations why they supported the building of the new Cathedral in Victoria. The Very Rev. Dean Quinton preached on the subject in Christ Church Cathedral on Sunday morning, emphasizing Christ's teaching on stewardship. Nothing a man has is held in absolute ownership, he declared, if the Christian view of God is accepted. The most treasured things in life—a mother's love, a father's care, education, friendship, and all Christian influences—had been received by most people since birth. All were stewards of their time, talents and money, and some day should be told, "Give an account of thy stewardship, for thou canst be no longer steward." Out of gratitude for Christian blessings, and because the new Cathedral would be a witness in the community to a belief in God, in Jesus Christ, in the church, and in the brotherhood of man, he appealed for generous contributions to make possible its early construction.

The Bishop of Columbia preached in St. Barnabas' and St. John's Churches, and the Archdeacon Ven. E. P. Laycock, referred to the new cathedral at a harvest thanksgiving service at Shawnigan Lake. Mr. A. H. Merrick addressed the congregation in St. Paul's, Nanaimo, on Sunday evening.

Point Grey Advocates Greater Vancouver Vote

VANCOUVER, Sept. 21.—The taking of a plebiscite at the next municipal election in the cities and municipalities throughout the Coast section of the Lower Mainland on the question of uniting into one big city, was advocated at the meeting of Point Grey Council last night. According to the resolution passed on the motion of Councillor T. E. Bate each municipality would retain control of its own local problems, under conditions to be later approved by the ratepayers.

The proposal will be forwarded to the cities of Vancouver, New Westminster, North Vancouver and Port Moody, and the municipalities of South Vancouver, Burnaby, Coquitlam, Burrigillam, Richmond, North Vancouver District and West Vancouver.

"What a beautiful new gown Helen is wearing! Says it's from abroad, doesn't she?" "Not exactly in those words! It's her last season's dress—she's a dressmaker has turned it inside out, and now she says it's from the other side."

THE FLAPPER OF 1926

She is an active girl—dancing—swimming—playing tennis—golf—motoring and hiking—often on the go eighteen or twenty hours out of every twenty-four. Only a strong, healthy body can stand the pace. But the flapper, like the Miss of 1880, knows that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the one remedy to keep her free from pain and physically fit, and depends upon it. For over 40 years it has been restoring sick and ailing women to health and strength. (Adv.)

GYRO CLUB STAGING GREAT COMIC OPERA

"Foxy Quiller" to Be Presented at Royal Victoria Theatre Tonight,
Commencing Sept. 30

The Gyro Club will stage the fascinating comic opera, "Foxy Quiller," by Reginald DeKoven, which rap with such success in New York. The opera will be played at the Royal Victoria Theatre for three nights, commencing September 30, and promises to be a greater hit than "The Beauty Shop."

Some of the well-known singers of the city are taking the leading roles. Those assisting are Mrs. Lily Wilson, Miss Beth Simpson, Mr. Frank Tupperman, Mr. Frank Partridge and Mr. Leon Conyers.

Mr. Art Kerr, who scored heavily as Dr. Budd in the "Beauty Shop," is taking the part of "Foxy Quiller," the great detective, and promises to add a second knockout to his credit. The Gyros are busy selling tickets, and these may be exchanged at the box office at the Royal Victoria Theatre on Monday. On Tuesday the box office will be open to the general public.

First Person: "Well, anyhow, when you're dead you're done for." Second Person: "Not likely; we'll all live again, only in another form." "Oh, no, Bill, you can't be the same thing twice."

IMPERIAL CONFERENCE

Mr. Mackenzie King has told the representative of a London newspaper that he may not be in a position to attend the Imperial Conference. Of course Mr. King says he would be delighted to attend the Conference, but there are serious obstacles to his attendance.

The first obstacle is the work of making a Cabinet. That job cannot be undertaken until the Liberal leader is asked to undertake it. After the work is begun, some time will be required to finish it. The Capital is crowded with successful Liberal candidates who aspire to become members of the Government. The task of selecting choice timber for the Cabinet is therefore a very delicate task indeed. Comparatively few can be chosen, and the rest must be placed.

Then when the work of Cabinet construction is completed, the job of the artist must be approved by the constituencies. The heads of the various departments must go to the electors of their various constituencies and seek re-election. Even the Premier himself is not exempt from the provisions of this constitutional requirement. Mr. King calls attention to this condition of political affairs and declares that it may prevent him from attending the Imperial Conference. He says he may not even be Premier when the Conference is being held, because he will not be Premier until his position is confirmed by his constituency.

Finally, where is the money to come from to meet the expenses of a trip to England? Mr. King claims that all the money at present being taken from the treasury at Ottawa to defray the routine expenses of administration is practically stolen money. Parliament has made no provision for even ordinary expenditures. Mr. King is very jealous about the supremacy of Parliament and the autonomy of Canada. His hot blood boils furiously in his veins when he thinks of the constitutional crimes that have been committed since the day he ceased to be Premier. Consequently Mr. King's conscience will not permit him to take money from the treasury on the authority of special warrants for the purpose of paying the expenses of a trip to England to attend the Imperial Conference.

If Mr. King really were anxious to attend the Imperial Conference as Premier of Canada, all the obstacles he mentions could be very easily surmounted. Indeed most of them are purely imaginary, and probably are imagined for a purpose. We do not believe that any of the new Cabinet Ministers will be opposed when they go to their constituencies for re-election. What purpose would be served by opposing Mr. King in Prince Albert, a constituency which he practically carries in his breeches' pocket?

And if Mr. King's tender conscience will not permit him to use a thousand dollars or so of public money that has not been voted by Parliament, we are sure some of his wealthy political patrons in Toronto would be delighted to accommodate him with a loan.

The fact of the matter is, Mr. King does not want to attend the Imperial Conference. He does not want to attend the Conference because it is called an Imperial Conference. Mr. King does nothing before carefully weighing the possible political consequences of what he is about to do. He is strong politically in Quebec because he is thought to be an anti-Imperialist, although as a matter of fact he is merely an opportunist. On the morning succeeding the day of the election, he placed a wreath on the tomb of the Great Laurier—with a sweeping genuflection in the direction of Quebec. He is trying to find excuses for staying away from the Imperial Conference because he believes that will please Quebec. When he attended the last Imperial Conference he refused to say one word that could be considered an expression of opinion upon any subject. That passive attitude pleased his friend Bourassa, and Bourassa is the political oracle of Quebec.

A BUSY LEAGUE

Plain, matter-of-fact people are not so enthusiastic on the subject of the League of Nations as optimistic, altruistic and visionary people. The League is the offspring of the late President Wilson of the United States. As far as the United States is concerned the child is an orphan. The successor of President Wilson has declined to recognize its legitimacy and has refused to adopt it. Notwithstanding this unnatural conduct, the League has grown mightily. In its original conception it was a simple thing. Today it is one of the most complex of things. It has developed as many heads as an octopus has arms. All sorts of subsidiary bodies also have attached themselves to it—councils and courts and auxiliary organizations with powers to regulate almost everything under the sun, from national armaments to hours of labor. There is even some kind of a body that is supposed to regulate the business of publishing newspapers.

Geneva, a comparatively insignificant city in the comparatively insignificant commonwealth of Switzerland, is the headquarters of the League and of all the subsidiary bodies attached to the League. Geneva is therefore the capital of the world, for the Parliament of Man meets there, or rather continuously sits there, passing resolutions and voting supplies. After the manner of other Parliaments, the Parliament of Man has developed a party system. Wherever the party system prevails there are divisions, intrigues, jealousies and strivings for power, and danger that the passions aroused may burst into flame.

There are septs who sneer at The League and declare that about all it does is pass resolutions and vote supplies for the complicated organization it has established at Geneva. On the other hand, there are many more liberal-minded people who declare that already The League has done much to justify its existence and its cost and that there are possibilities for almost unlimited expansion of its powers and its usefulness. Germany has become a member of The League and has been given a permanent seat on the Council of The League. That is said to assure the future peace of Europe. If the United States could be induced to join up and accept a seat on the Council, that would assure the permanent peace of the world.

CANADA'S LARGEST CITY

There is one city in Canada with a population of one million or more. At least responsible people in Montreal say there is, and the responsible people would hardly make such a daring statement without authority for making it. Montreal is therefore the first city in Canada claiming a population of one million souls within its municipal boundaries. If the population of Greater Montreal were added to the population of the city proper the result would be a city of imposing proportions and dignity.

There will be some snorting of noses when the ambitious people of Toronto hear about the claims of the people of Montreal. There is rivalry of exceeding bitterness between the chief city of Quebec and the big city of Ontario—business rivalry and political rivalry and rivalries of other kinds which need not be mentioned. That is indicative of the peculiarities of human nature. Cities that are small dream of becoming big, and cities that are big want to grow bigger. We admit that there is a certain fascination in watching things grow, but it is a melancholy thought that everything seems to be happier when it is growing than it is after it has grown up. The adult person dreams of the days of his youth and the happy days of long ago. We question whether the sum of human happiness is greater in Montreal with its million of population than it was in the days when Montreal was a city with one-tenth that population. No person of a reflective bent of mind can visit any great city without feelings of compassion welling up in his heart for the swarming people of that city. Yet growth is a law of Nature. When growth, or progress, ceases, there is stagnation, then decay, and ultimately death.

We expect it almost any day now—the advent of the weather prophet with his announcement that the coming Winter will be one of the coldest on record. Those devastating storms in the South and frost and snow in the North are terribly portentous of hard and bitter times. At least the weather prophet will proclaim his dismal forebodings, while a soft wind is blowing and a bright sun shining in this highly favored part of the world.

It is very distressing to learn of the destruction of life and property in Florida and the Southern States by the fury of the elements, but it is comforting to think that the suffering will be of short duration. The people of the United States are wealthy and generous, and immediate provision will be made for the relief of those who are in distress.

Neither the political situation nor the economical situation is so desperate that desperate remedies are necessary to relieve it. We have no sympathy with the suggestions that British Columbia should withdraw from the Canadian Confederation and that Vancouver Island should revert to the condition of a Crown Colony.

A news dispatch says six automobiles loaded to the gunnel with gangsters swept two hotels in Chicago with machine gun fire. Armored and armed airplanes are being prepared to deal with such desperadoes. Life in Chicago presently will be fuller of thrills than ever.

A Pacific Coast sea captain who weathered the "gale" in Florida declared that it beat anything he ever encountered in this part of the world. We should hope so, and may we be spared from any such thrilling experience. It is reassuring to think that our lot has not been cast in tropical regions.

Correspondents may be reminded that the old constitutional question is no longer interesting for a new constitutional precedent has been established.

WOMAN BANDIT IS SOUGHT BY POLICE

Scotland Yard is baffled by "Will-o'-the-Wisp Woman"—Famous Detectives Are Mystified

LONDON, Sept. 21.—The cleverest detective of Scotland Yard made a desperate effort to capture London's bobbled girl or woman bandit and to discover her identity. She managed, however, to elude them.

South London was combed by plainclothes men. Houses in Tottenham Court Road were searched, but all to no purpose. This will-o'-the-wisp woman is believed to have been concerned in seven robberies during the past week or two. In each case she has acted as driver of a motor car in which the thieves escaped. In every case but one she has been able to steer herself and her accomplices through vigilant police nets. On each occasion two men were captured, and are now in remand. The woman eluded the police and drove away in company with a third man.

The robberies in which she is said to have been concerned took place at Chertsey, St. Albans, Hford, Leatherhead, Claygate, Merton and Hampton.

A Challenge
A determination to capture the woman who has flouted them animates the whole Scotland Yard force. The police feel that a gauntlet has been flung down and that the woman's audacity is a direct challenge to them.

Pandora's detectives who are accustomed to deal with men criminals are racking their brains to find a way in which the woman may be captured. It is even possible that women detectives may also be employed on the task.

One of the most astonishing features of the hunt is the fact that no policeman who has seen the woman, and who has been seen many times, has been able to forward to Scotland Yard any accurate description of her. One policeman maintains that she was a "dark" girl. "Blond-haired," Others say it is hooped. Some declare she is dark and slim. Others maintain that she is of heavy build, with blonde hair.

C.P.R. Freight Yards Can Hold 12,999 Cars

WINNIPEG, Sept. 21.—Transcanada yards of the Canadian Pacific Railway here will be opened for traffic at midnight Saturday. The yards, which make the C.P.R. Winnipeg terminals the largest of any company in America, have not been in operation for three years. All the grain of the prairies passing over C.P.R. lines east will be handled through these yards, which have a capacity of 12,999 cars, bringing the total handling power of the Winnipeg terminals up to 12,999 cars.

Vancouver Liquor Probe

VANCOUVER, Sept. 21.—Auditors who have been going through the books and records of the various distilleries and liquor export houses in Vancouver for the past six weeks at the instance of the Royal Commission continuing the customs investigation, have about completed their work, it is learned.

GREATNESS
Although the minor poets
Endure much open scorn,
Their labour is rewarded
When greater ones are born.

Except in mountain ranges,
No lofty peaks are found;
They rise on lower comrades,
And not from level ground.

OLD FASHIONED
Ah! how I love the old days,
The old ways;
So different from the new,
Ah! how I love the old ways,
The real past;
Now distant—and so few.

Ah! how I love the old scenes,
The dear scenes;
So altered now and torn,
Ah! how I love the old scenes,
The good books;
The books well worn—and torn.

Ah! how I love the old themes,
The song-dreams;
So different from mere "jazz,"
Ah! how I love the old themes,
The good times;
Such joy my memory has.

Ah! how I love the old days,
The old ways;
So different from the new,
Ah! how I love the old days,
The real past;
The past that still is true.

The Rhyming Optimist

By Allan Michelson

Many tasks are noble, which await man's hand, that he make Earth better, so his life was planned; lending of his labor, lending of his skill, joying as he sees it growing better still! Planning, digging, building, lessening human loads, stretching better bridges, building better roads, laying cables further by the sea and land, till with chain unbroken all the Earth is spanned; many tasks are noble, so man nobler grows, giving to his labors all of good he knows. Many tasks are splendid, be they great or small; making someone happy may be best of all!

"CITY BEAUTIFUL" IS PLAN OF CHICAGO

But Civic Centre Is Still Bit of a Dream—Millions Expended Already

Chicago, Sept. 21.—Virtually every city in the land with a civic urge has a civic centre planned or building.

Chicago, the sprawling midwestern metropolis, is no exception. Its civic centre plan is linked with a city beautiful movement, probably the most pretentious in the world.

Millions of dollars already have been expended in a beauty and utility programme and the subject is one so vast and far reaching that an entire book devoted to it has been used in the schools here for years.

But while many features of the "Chicago plan" have been completed or are under way, the civic centre is still a hazy dream of the future. The original plan of the civic centre was planned about a huge open plaza west of the Chicago River, this centre to be the focal point of all the related developments.

The area selected is in a dingy, run-down section, crowded with cramped tenements, small manufacturing and repair shops, and a wide boulevard. The new civic centre plan still looms in the offing a new centre of public and semi-public activity is building just west of the river. Here, on a wide boulevard, replacing old canal street, has been erected the huge developments associated with the new union station.

Public Buildings Scattered
On the same street, a couple of blocks away, another great railroad terminal, that of the Chicago & Northwestern, while efforts are being made to place the new Chicago post-office on territory between the two.

Chicago, building usually associated with a civic centre plan are now widely scattered. The combined city hall and county building, an immense granite structure in the Roman style, is in the heart of the loop. The post office, which Chicago outgrew before it was finished, is half a mile away. The art institute is over on the Michigan Boulevard and the new Field Museum a mile distant in Grant Park. The Cook County Jail is beyond the north branch of the Chicago River.

FLYERS RISK LIVES FOR OTHERS' SAFETY

Test Pilots Never Know What to Expect in Trial Flights of New Machines

DAYTON, Ohio, Sept. 21.—The unknown quantity is the big thing at McCook field. And airplane crash-ups, while not exactly courted, are more or less expected.

McCook field is the experimental field for the United States Army Air Corps, and all ships and pieces of equipment for ships are given thorough tests before they are adopted for general use.

It is the work of the McCook field to test pilots—those who have crashed to their deaths as Lieut. E. H. Barkdale did recently and those who have survived through miracle.

When King Edward married, one of his first acts was to pay a pretty tribute to his beautiful bride by decorating the ceilings of some of the rooms at Sandringham with Danish wood carving. All this is now being taken away and replaced by more modern decorations.

Mr. McGee's Application Dismissed by Commission
VANCOUVER, Sept. 21.—British Columbia's application for right to begin criminal prosecution of officers of the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways on a charge of failure to grant British Columbia full benefit of an equalization order on westbound and eastbound grain rates has been dismissed by the Board of Railway Commissioners.

Notification to this effect has been received by G. G. McGee, K.C., freight rates counsel for British Columbia, in a letter dated September 18 and signed by A. D. Cartwright, secretary of the commission.

Hon. Frank Oliver, Edmonton, dissented from the views of his colleagues on the board, and favored giving British Columbia authority to proceed with criminal court action.

SANDRINGHAM GIVEN OVER TO CLEANERS

QUEEN MARY SHARES IN THE WORK OF RENOVATION WITH DUSTER

Wallpaper Replaces Tapestry—Dark Interior Decorations Will Be Replaced

LONDON, Sept. 21.—While the King has been spending a holiday with gun in hand in the North of England, the Queen has been busy at Sandringham with a housemaid's duster.

Queen Alexandra's old home is undergoing more extensive renovations than have ever been carried out since King Edward purchased it in 1862, a year before his marriage. Queen Mary has been staying at York Cottage, and every day she has been personally superintending the work of an army of cleaners and decorators who are transforming Sandringham from a Victorian to a modern mansion.

"The Queen cannot stand idly by while others work," said a Sandringham household servant. "Each day she has been at work, duster in hand, dealing with the pictures and other ornaments as they are taken from the walls."

Many Changes
The transformation of Sandringham began a month ago, and will be finished in time for the King's visit for the autumn in October.

Queen Alexandra, during the last years of her life, would have nothing changed at Sandringham, she wished the house to remain as it was when King Edward made it for her.

The apartments of King Edward and the Duke of Clarence remained till her death exactly as they had left them; to her they preserved memories too precious to be violated.

Even the silver and copper that the Duke of Clarence carried in his pocket at the time of his last illness, more than thirty years ago, lay on the dressing-table of his bedroom. Queen Alexandra believed that people after her death would value them and that they would provide money for charity.

The work now in hand includes extensive alterations to the central heating apparatus. Much old tapestry has been removed and replaced by handsome embossed wallpaper. Many old carpets and some furniture have been cleared out, and there have been considerable alterations in the library. When King Edward married, one of his first acts was to pay a pretty tribute to his beautiful bride by decorating the ceilings of some of the rooms at Sandringham with Danish

HILLCREST RESCUERS DELAYED BY DEBRIS

Relay Parties Push on Work But Have Not Yet Reached Spot Where Body May Be Found

CALGARY, Sept. 21.—Debris clogging the number one slope of the Hillcrest colliery at Lethbridge continues to impede the progress of the rescue parties who are deep down in the wrecked mine searching for the body of the missing fire boss, Frank Loto. At an early hour today relay parties were sent down the mine in relays pushed the work during the long hours of Monday night and today, but their efforts have not been rewarded when the last message reached this city. It is confidently believed that the workmen clearing their way through the debris will reach some time tonight the spot where Loto is likely to be found some 6,000 feet from the pit mouth.

Nickel and Cobalt Are Tried as Diabetes Cure

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 21.—A cure for diabetes was the possibility envisioned before the American Chemical Society here.

Professor Gabriel Bertrand, director of the Biological Chemical Laboratory of the Pasteur Institute, Paris, told the division of chemistry of medical products, experiments with nickel and cobalt have produced encouraging results in treatment of the disease. These two metals have been found present in the human body, Prof. Bertrand declared, especially in the pancreas gland.

"Since diabetes is the result of an anatomical, or perhaps simple functional, alteration of the pancreas, it is not logical to examine whether it may not be possible to cure, or at least alleviate certain cases of the disease by the introduction into the general circulation of small quantities of nickel or cobalt."

Experiments conducted by himself and associates, Prof. Bertrand said, first with nickel or cobalt alone, and then with a mixture of the two, have met with encouraging results. "We have found that cases of simple diabetes, excluding the consumptive type, may be benefited, sometimes to the extent of the complete suppression of the sugar output," he declared.

RODDY—The funeral for the late William Roddy, who passed away at the Royal Jubilee Hospital on Friday, took place yesterday afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock, from the R. J. Curry & Son Funeral Home. Members of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, Dominion Lodge No. 4, were in attendance. Brother A. R. Curtis conducted the service at the chapel and was assisted by Brother D. R. Ferry at the graveside. The following members of the Order assisted as pallbearers: Messrs. John May, A. E. Curtis, S. A. Virtue, Alderman W. H. Cullin, Charles Munro and D. R. Ferry. Interment was made in the family plot at Ross Bay Cemetery.

World Beekeepers Gather To Honor Ohio Pioneers

Methods of Beekeeping Revolutionized by Scientist-Clergyman—Is Fascinating as Hobby or Business—Etiquette of Hive Is Strict

MEDINA, O., Sept. 21.—Beekeepers from all over the country, and a number from foreign lands, have gathered here to honor the memory of two Ohioans who were pioneers in improved methods of beekeeping. They are the Rev. Lorenzo Langstroth, scientist and clergyman, whose invention of the movable frame in 1851 revolutionized the methods of beekeeping, and his disciple, A. I. Root, who developed the commercial side of beekeeping. The meeting is under the auspices of the Ohio Beekeepers' Association.

In contrast to the present condition, when bee culture has a literature of its own, the meeting will illustrate how meagre was the supply of information on beekeeping in the old days. In 1845 A. I. Root took a trip to Columbus, Ohio, ostensibly on business, but really in search of a book on bees. He found but two, and quickly chose "Langstroth on the Hive and Honeybee."

No fan rides his hobby harder than the bee enthusiast. Talk to any keeper of bees, amateur or professional, and invariably he will avow that beekeeping is fun. It isn't an occupation confined to any age or sex, for men and women, boys and girls become allured by the magic of the hive, which provides thrills enough, they say, to satisfy the most adventurous. One modern beekeeper avers that when they are understood bees are the most sociable, genial and good-natured little beings.

Texas Leads Bee Farming

Although apiculture is classed as a minor industry, in some states it is rapidly assuming major proportions. According to the last government census, Texas has a greater number of honeybee colonies on farms than any other state. Tennessee ranks second and California third. However, the United States census, in so far as it concerns bees and honey, is misleading. In California about three-fourths of the honey producers (those who send out honey by the carload) live in the cities and towns and not in the outlying sections where their apiaries are located.

Similar conditions exist in other states. Since, under the ruling, no beekeepers can be listed unless they are farmers or produce over $250 worth of farm products, those living in cities or towns are not included in the census reports. In states which are largely suburban, such as Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut and New Jersey, it would be safe to multiply the census reports by three. It is estimated that there are 1,900,000 beekeepers in the United States.

Alabama is the greatest bee and queen-rearing state, and a large number of the beekeepers live in its big towns. The queen bee, in price, from $1 to $2.50 each, according to the season. They are in demand all over the country, many of them being shipped as far north as Canada.

Profit and Pleasure

Even in the old days beekeeping was a profitable as well as a pleasurable avocation. It is said of Moses Quinby, the banker beekeeper who was a contemporary of Langstroth and to whom credit is due for the invention of the hollow bee-smoker, that it was due solely to his earnings with bees that Mr. Quinby was able to establish a bank. In those days he sent from 5,000 to 10,000 pounds of honey to the New York market annually.

Perhaps no subject has so intrigued the imagination of writers as the age-old mystery of bee civilization, known to the present day by Lore Sharp, with his recent book, "The Spirit of the Hive." There has been an illustrious line of authors who have worshipped at the shrine of the bee. Maeterlinck is credited with the belief that bees have souls, while Virgil wrote, some thirty years before the birth of Christ, "Some have alleged that a portion of the divine mind and a heavenly emanation may be discovered in bees."

Before the invention of the microscope, in the seventeenth century, many erroneous ideas prevailed concerning the bee. It was even thought that the queen bee was male, and her official title was "king of the hive." "Not Egypt's self, nor Median Hydaspes are so observant of their kind," sings Virgil in the fourth book of the Eclogues.

Etiquette of Hive

No court, in fact, observes such rigid etiquette as the hive. The worker bee never turns her back on the queen. When she is seen approaching the others gather around her, taking care to face her, and, in withdrawing, to walk backward. The queen is surrounded by fifteen or twenty ladies-in-waiting, whose duty it is to guard her and to supply her every want. She does not feed herself, but when she comes out her tongue and her attendants put honey on it. When queen bees are shipped they are always accompanied by a few attendants to look after them. As a substitute for nectar, candy is the food provided on the trip, this often being in the form of cream bonbons. Even today, after centuries of scientific study, the bee world offers material for research and discovery.

That the successful keeper of bees must really be a student of bee behavior is emphasized in a recent bulletin of the United States Department of Agriculture. The beekeeper who doesn't thoroughly know bee habits and behavior is unable to recognize the seemingly abnormal phases of activity and does not know what to do under such circumstances. It is stated, however, that this fact is not generally recognized and that most of the literature on practical beekeeping consists of sets of rules, and rules must, of course, be based on usual behavior.

W.C.T.U. CONVENTION OPENS IN VANCOUVER

Official Reports From President and Secretary of National Meeting Has Been Cancelled

VANCOUVER, Sept. 21.—Lack of leisure for temperance work prevented any great achievement during the last year, though progress had been made, reported Mrs. G. M. Lanning, corresponding secretary, this morning at the opening meeting of the forty-third annual convention of the Women's Christian Temperance Union in British Columbia. Meetings are being held for three days at Chalmers United Church, with the president, Mrs. J. A. Gillespie, in the chair.

The secretary reported that Mrs. T. Turnbull and Mrs. L. L. L. delegates to the world convention held this year at Edinburgh, and had brought back inspiring reports of that congress. Arrangements had been made for entertaining the national convention in this city this month, but plans had been cancelled owing to Federal election day. Earlier conferences had been held at Blaine and Sumas, and Mrs. Gillespie had been one of the speakers. The Provincial Union had been disappointed in the cancellation of the appointment of a field secretary for work in the Province.

Official Reports

Mrs. Charles Yapp presented the treasurer's statement showing receipts amounting to $2,033, with disbursements of $1,165.

Mrs. J. A. Gillespie presented her president's address at the afternoon meeting, and said, in part: "The three watchwords, 'Decision, Determination and Concentration,' that are the secret of all success, have been adopted by the British Columbia temperance women as never before."

The stronghold of temperance, according to Mrs. Gillespie, is the department of scientific temperance instruction, which it is aimed to have introduced into the schools. Work for children was done in the Sunday schools and through the Loyal Temperance Unions throughout the Province.

CARBON MONOXIDE IS MENACE IN TRAFFIC

Gas Is Serious Problem in Busy Streets—American Leads British Forefront in Rubber Growth

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 21.—The menace from carbon monoxide exhaust fumes is assuming serious proportions in congested traffic centres, Prof. Alexander Silverman, head of the Department of Chemistry of the University of Pittsburgh, told the American Chemical Society convention. This aside from its extravagance, should condemn the practice of allowing standing motors to run, he declared.

Rubber from the Guayule shrub offers the United States its most favorable means of meeting the world rubber demands, the society was informed. This shrub, found growing wild on the rocky hills of Northern Mexico and Southern Texas, is now under cultivation in California.

"What the search for means for the stabilization and improvement of the rubber in the Guayule shrub, the development of an agricultural guayule industry in this country takes on a new importance," Dr. David Spence, vice-president of the Continental Rubber Company, of New York, declared.

An opinion that the British deserve the monetary reward they are getting from their rubber industry because of their foresight in cultivating rubber was expressed by Dr. Edward E. Bloomer, of Washington. He said automobile tires would be commanding an almost prohibitive price today had not the British started planting rubber trees fifty years ago.

MOSQUITOS ALSO PREFER BLONDES

Example of Gentlemen Followed by Pests, Says Expert—Resistance to Bites Is Mystifying

LONDON, Eng., Sept. 21.—Gentlemen are not the only ones to prefer blondes. Mosquitoes also show a predilection in this direction.

This fact emerges from correspondence which has been received by A. Moore Hogarth, chairman of College of Pestology, here, who has devoted considerable time to the problem of dealing effectively with the pests.

"If one might judge from the correspondence which has reached us, mosquitoes would seem to prefer fair people to their darker brethren," he said. "Of course, it has been impossible to go very thoroughly into this question, but, curiously enough, our experience as to the preference shown by mosquitoes in their selection of human hosts, corresponds to the phenomena discussed at a recent meeting of the Royal Society of Tropical Medicine, when it was indisputably proved that there are, as far as mosquitoes are concerned, three classes of persons:

(a) Those extremely sensitive to infection by mosquito bite;

(b) Those who might be called normal; and

(c) Those who might be called resistant.

"There seems to be no explainable reason why these three classes should be thus positioned in regard to the mosquito. It has been hazarded that, perhaps, this state of affairs is due to the presence of glucose in the blood, and it is of more than passing interest to the public that this complexly regarding the mosquito attack should exist."

Of perchance, we could get the views and feelings of interested thinkers, I feel confident that such data would be of very great pathological interest."

Dozens of tennis clubs come to the College for assistance in regard to mosquitoes during the summer, and Mr. Hogarth again mentioned his formula for club secretaries for the provision of a medicated dust, which should be blown lightly over grass, ditches, pools, etc. It is as follows: One cent. dry dust or ash, Paris green (55 per cent arsenious oxide) one and a quarter pounds, Paraffin oil, one pint. Crude carbolic, fourteen ounces. Brown camphor oil, four ounces, and saffron oil, four ounces.

INDIANS ATTACKING THE HUDSONS BAY FORT AT CAMOUSUN

THE diary of Mr. Roderick Finlayson—who assumed command of Fort Victoria in the year 1844, upon the death of the former factor, Mr. Ross—gives many interesting accounts of the events attendant upon the efforts of the Company to control the natives. At one time, the Indians killed some of the Company's cattle, upon which Mr. Finlayson ceased trading with them till full restitution should be made. The natives thereupon attacked the fort, with musket fire, and for a time the prospects for a settlement seemed small.

Difficulties are attendant at every stage of modern advancement, but determination always triumphs. WORLD USES THIRTY BILLION TOOTHPLICKS

Annual Production is Huge—Grandfather's Gold-Plated Ony Has Had Its Day

WARSAU, Wis., Sept. 21.—Toothpicks, however lowly they may be, are holding their place in the mouths of the people, and they are one of the few manufactured products that are the same the world over.

Thirty billion, the season product of a specialized industry, are produced annually in the United States. H. E. Smith, official of a toothpick manufacturing firm here, estimates. The modern American toothpick, made of white birch, flat and bevel pointed, and the world's standard, came into the market about thirty years ago, he explained.

Succeeded Gold Ones. "Prior to that time," he said, "there were the gold-plated, glistening toothpicks of grandfather's day—as much a part of his personal equipment as the key to his watch; a little later we had the very insubstantial quill pick, and after that, the rough, unsatisfactory silver made in Japan.

Court of Revision Sits October 1 to Consider Appeals

THE City Court of Revision, which sits on October 1, has only a light list of appeals to consider. There are only fifty-six appeals from a total of 10,000 property owners. This small list is believed to be due to the reductions made in taxation. Mayor J. Carl Pendry and Aldermen William Marchant, H. C. Holmes, E. S. Woodward and John Harvey are members of the board, which will consider appeals on the assessment roll for 1927.

"The bulk of the world's supply of toothpicks is produced in six principal factories in the United States; four of them are in Maine, in the cities of Guilford, Phillips and Strong; one is in Wausau, and one in Cloquet, Minnesota."

Toothpicks are not a by-product of some other industry, but many other companies, critics of the toothpick. The toothpick takes the choicest part of a white birch log, and what is left is converted into other things.

Made in Winter. The manufacturing process is carried on only in the cold months of the year. The ideal season for making toothpicks is said by manufacturers to be from December 1 to April 15. The reason is that in cold weather the sap in the log remains frozen. As soon as warm weather sets in the sap begins to stir and stains the wood a tobacco brown.

To the toothpick manufacturer a white birch log is composed of three parts: the bark, which goes for fuel, the "white sap," which is the cream of the log for toothpicks, and the "red sap," which is made up into by-products. The log, which is anywhere from six to sixteen feet in length, is cut into two-foot bolts, which are shaved of their bark to a cylindrical form. Next the front is thawed out and from there they go to the veneer lathe, where they are cut into long strips, exactly as wide as a toothpick is long.

These strips are wound onto a spool and look like a big ball of ribbon. The spool of veneer is then run through the toothpick "chopper," a small, but very strong machine that runs like lightning—4,500 revolutions per minute—and as the machine has two knives, made in the shape of a toothpick, it cut two picks at every revolution. There are usually twelve or sixteen of these machines in a battery.

Automatic Processes. Up to this point the picks are dripping with sap, and a machine carries them to the drying machine, a huge, steel oven. From the dryer the picks are blown to the "polisher," a steel cylinder, 110 feet in diameter, that revolves very slowly, tumbling the picks against each other until they acquire the satin finish that is characteristic of the American toothpick.

The "shaker," by violent agitation arranges the picks into the boxes the exact size of the commercial toothpick box. The tin boxes are dumped into the paper boxes, which are sealed, packed in cases holding ninety-six dozen of the little boxes, and the merchandise is ready for the market.

The whole manufacturing process is automatic. The little pointed sticks are used in many ways and many places. Florists use millions of them in making wreaths and home designs; restaurateurs and home kitchens use them to hold together "veal birds" and "pica in blankets"; men use them to clean their pipes; they have been used, in some backwoods resorts, as counters in place of poker chips.

French "Immortals" Approve "Manucure"

PARIS, Sept. 21.—The French Academy has decided to admit the word "manucure" into the French language. The word, though in general use, in that form, has not hitherto reached dictionary rank, and the six "immortals" present at the meeting (Marshall Joffe was one) spent some time discussing whether the English form "manicure" (which is also in use in France) should be adopted, but eventually agreed on "manucure" as being nearer the Latin original. The word "maniculate" is to come up for discussion soon.

MEXICO CHURCH TREASURES LOST

Gold and Silver Images and Chalice Are Stolen From Cathedral of Assumption in Mexico City

CHALICE WORTH $30,000
DISAPPEARS UTTERLY

Writer Says President Calles Is Exploited by Communist Leaders—Paintings by Old Masters Vanish

"To walk through the great doorway, the Door of Haddon, between the twin, dome-capped towers of the Cathedral of the Assumption in Mexico City is to see an epitome of the history of the Catholic Church in that country," says David Neville in the following interesting account of the lost treasures in The London Daily Mail.

"High in the east tower, beneath the great bells that for centuries have called the faithful to prayer, there lives still a family of hereditary bell-ringers. With a great, ancient-century Spanish chest, the size of a cabin trunk, serve as poor-box, and is not overlarge to hold the voluntary contributions in a church where all compulsory fees are forbidden.

"But the side chapel has niches that seem strangely empty. Once, before the decree of confiscation that is now being enforced again, each niche contained an image of massive silver. Two hundred thousand pounds was a low estimate of the value of the ornaments. A single chalice of solid gold, encrusted with shells, was given to the cathedral by Joseph de Borde, a French adventurer, who won a fortune in Mexico in the eighteenth century. Its value has been estimated at $30,000.

"That such a price was not excessive may be judged from the fact that the donor, either repenting of his generosity or perhaps being in urgent need of ready cash, devolved later for its return, and although his request was refused, the archbishop, as an act of grace, gave him $10,000. It has vanished utterly. Soon after President Juarez, the 'Little Indian,' began the expropriation of all the property of the church it disappeared.

"There are some who believe that it is hidden away in a recess in the cathedral walls. It may be, but it is easier to believe that in such a 'graters' paradise as Mexico it found a way into the possession of some member of the Government. After all, President Obregon, the predecessor and close associate of the present ruler, who had an arm blown off by one of the brigand Villistas' shells, once ascribed his election to the fact that he had only one hand and, therefore, could not steal."

"The bulk of the world's supply of toothpicks is produced in six principal factories in the United States; four of them are in Maine, in the cities of Guilford, Phillips and Strong; one is in Wausau, and one in Cloquet, Minnesota."

"To tell the truth, the poor or Indian peasant, who represents the greater part of the population, is not very promising material for the education of his own day, the childlike creature, lazy and easy-going, provided that his very touchy pride as a caballero (cavalier)—that is, gentleman—be not offended. He has no ambitions; his pleasures are confined to basking, lizard-like, in the sun or to drinking himself addled in one of the lawfully painted saloons with the pulque, a nauseous brew made by fermenting the juice of a species of cactus like a Gargantuan athlete.

"Employers who increased their scale of wages usually found the only result to be a proportionate decrease in the number of days a week that their laborers worked. A Socialist writer in an American contemporary

Medical Chiefs Evolution Believers, Says Professor

Leaders in Science of Medicine Are Fully Assured of Fact of Evolution, Declares Dr. Morton, of Yale University

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Sept. 21.—"Fully 100 per cent of all those to whom we owe our important advances in medicine are not only fully assured of the fact of evolution but in addition are strongly convinced that the scope and route of our future advance bear a direct ratio to the biological laws which have guided its course."

Dr. Dudley J. Morton, head of the department of surgery, Yale School of Medicine, told eighty visiting members of the Cambridge, Eng., Medical Society here recently.

"It is only by enlisting the aid of geology, paleontology and their allied sciences that we may hope to gain a true perspective of the phenomenon of evolution," Dr. Morton said.

"Since the medical profession is primarily concerned with the human species, our interest would naturally be focused upon that part of the problem that relates to man, and is only a question of time when the practical value of a clear insight into the evolutionary development of mankind and his exact relationship to other organic forms will be generally recognized, and especially its benefits to the medical research worker."

"If it were commonly known how thoroughly medical science ratified the phenomenon of evolution, and the public had a true realization of the intimate relationship between the two, there would probably be far less controversy concerning it among laymen."

Wagner's "Ring" Forms Subject for Her Lecture

Mrs. S. MacLure Addresses Enthusiastic Audience at New Thought Temple, Giving Artistic Exposition of Motifs to Illustrate Drama Analysis

Profound appreciation both of music and drama, coupled with the perhaps rarer capacity for concentrated study and analysis of both, was apparent in the lecture-recital given last evening by Mrs. S. MacLure at the New Thought Temple. Her subject, Wagner's "Ring of the Nibelung," had attracted a great amount of attention, and she addressed a big and keenly interested audience in the little more than two hours' long discourse, the second portion of which was in the nature, principally, of an exposition of the principal motifs of the fourfold musical drama.

Music, characters, symbolism, scenery, were all intimately described, and with such artistic abstraction that a very real atmosphere was built up, this greatly helping each subsequent incident in the narrative. Those who had not previously had any opportunity of hearing Mrs. MacLure play were both surprised and delighted with her presentation of the various subjects, her performance at all times showing not only musical understanding but a very fine technique. The pianoforte arrangement of these themes, suggesting, as it does, something of the orchestral magnitude of the work, is by no means a slight thing to play, and Mrs. MacLure particularly distinguished herself in "The Song of the Rhine-maidens," "The Dawn of the Rhine-gold," "Youth of the Gods," the majestic pompous "Entrance of the Gods to Valhalla" (all in "The Rhine-gold"); the rich "Sigmund" theme and the love motif (from the first act of Valkyrie), and the wild magnificent "Ride of the Valkyries" and starting "Fire Music" of act two; while the more notable numbers from "Siegfried" and "The Twilight of the Gods" were the restlessly energetic "Valkyrie" theme, "Mother Love in Nature," and the "Sword Song," masterful and undaunted in spirit.

Characters Symbolic
"The characters are symbolic rather than personalities," the lecturer informed her audience early in her analysis of "The Ring." To give her audience some conception of what the composing of this great work meant, Mrs. MacLure described something of Wagner's philosophy and the intellectual force which supported it.

A student and ardent disciple of the old Greek drama and of Beethoven, Wagner brought to his composition from the first something of the "moral" attitude, and "The Ring," therefore, embodied much of his philosophy of life as well as of his peculiar art theories.

Lohengrin
"The Ring" was begun just after "Lohengrin" was completed, when Wagner was thirty-five years of age, and when he was going through the darkest, most bitter period of his life, suffering from poverty, ridicule and contempt. But his fearless desire for artistic truth led him to put his greatest powers into what was truly a labor of love.

Wagner wrote the drama of "The Ring," as well as the music. The work was first planned as a three-act opera with the title "Siegfried's Dream" (identical with the present "Twilight of the Gods") but he found that so much explanation was necessary to render many of the incidents intelligible that subsequently "Siegfried" and "The Twilight of the Gods" came into being.

Rejected Artificial
Wagner, always a strenuous upholder of the natural as opposed to the artificial in art, broke away from the latter form, popular at the time, and created a new art form. In the Wagnerian art form, the lecturer emphasized, the singers and voice were mere voice machines, but must always interpret and live among each other on the stage as if the drama were life itself. In his work, too, the orchestra ceased to be a mere accompaniment to the singers, and was a continual theme of its own which translated all the passion and emotion of the play into a grand symphony running parallel and complementary with the vocal music. The musical energy of Wagner's opera, in other words, must flow entirely from dramatic conditions instead of being, as in the old form, a series of separate musical numbers set in a web of formless recitative. The drama itself always possesses a deep meaning which is evolved through the dialogue.

Northern Myth
The drama of "The Ring" is based on a great northern myth, cast in the mould of ancient Greek tragedy. To do, something of the conception the composer aspired to add the emotional power of music, thus enhancing the "moral force" which he aimed to make of it.

"The Ring," Mrs. MacLure told her audience, "is a trilogy of three dramas, with a lengthy prologue. The prologue, which is the first of the four, is the story of the Ancestral Curse, two ideas of great antiquity among the Greeks. Wagner's own writings held many references to the underlying meaning of "The Ring" and these, when sifted, resolved themselves into the philosophy that the regeneration of the human race was possible only through the power of love.

"The Ring is the embodiment of human love in its highest sense," the lecturer maintained, asking her audience to note how the love theme recurred in various aspects through the course of the whole four dramas, the love of power and the worship of gold, symbolized by Alberich and the Rhine-maidens, being the background against which the light and power of human love were revealed.

Orchestral Value
To show further the analogy between the old Greek drama and Wagner's "Ring," Mrs. MacLure frequently indicated, either before or after playing the many motifs and themes of the opera, that the orchestra as used by Wagner was the modern equivalent of the Greek chorus, which, about and yet part of the action, continually uttered its comments on the people of the play.

In the intermission about half way through the programme, Mrs. MacLure was presented with a beautiful bouquet of flowers, which enhanced the already very artistic arrangement of the stage. Here and at the close of the programme she was enthusiastically applauded by an audience notably representative of Victoria's music and drama students.

AMERICAN DOLLS ON FRIENDLY CRUSADE

Two Hundred Thousand to "Visit" Japan for Dolls' Festival—Plan to Foster Goodwill

BOSTON, Sept. 21.—In many parts of the United States busy dressmaking meetings are being held to outfit some 200,000 Americans who are expected to reach Japan in time for the tea and cake served there, but that on March 3, the "Hina Matsuri."

This army of globe-trotting Americans is being assembled so that each for the first time can sit in an American representative at the "Dolls' Festival." Each little traveler is to be of a carefully selected type which best represents American girlhood, with a wardrobe in keeping.

The Committee on World Friendship among Children, instituted by the Commission on International Justice and Goodwill of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America, which represents some 25,000,000 Protestant members, launched the movement recently.

Mr. Henry W. Peabody, of Beverly, Mass., is chairman of the committee, and Mrs. Jeanette W. Emrich is the secretary in charge of the Doll Travel Bureau in New York City, from which the journey will begin.

The idea grew from the suggestions of the Rev. Sidney L. Gulick, of New York, who has long been active in promoting goodwill between Japan and America.

No celluloid dolls, of course, can undertake the hazards of the journey. They will all be of the unbreakable composition type. Beside her traveling clothes each doll will have a tiny suitcase containing her wardrobe.

Special steamship and railroad tickets will be used, to cost 50 cents, and a special passport to be issued at a cost of one cent is decorated with crossed flags of Japan and the United States.

"To the boys and girls in Japan," it reads, "this passport introduces to you a special and law-abiding citizen of the U.S.A. who goes to visit Japan as a messenger of friendship and to see the Hina Matsuri, March 3, 1927."

Then follows a personal description of the doll, a photograph, and a special visa by Consul-General Salto, of New York.

It is planned to start the first group of doll travelers on Armistice Day, November 11.

Weddings

Gibbs-Poore

A pretty wedding took place at the home of Mrs. M. A. Poore, 2715 Blackwood Avenue, on Monday evening, when her youngest daughter, Carol M. Cambridge, became the bride of Mr. James Gibbs, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. James Gibbs, Wolseley Avenue. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. W. G. Wilson. Given in marriage by her brother, Mr. H. J. Cambridge Poore, the bride looked charming in white crepe de Chine with a silk net embroidered veil and wreath of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses, carnations and maiden-hair fern. The bridesmaid, Miss Christine Poore, sister of the bride, was dressed in mauve silk crepe and wore a corsage bouquet of Ophelia roses. Mr. Tom Kay supported the groom, and the wedding march was played by Mrs. C. Nash Curtis, sister of the bride. During the signing of the register Miss Laura White sang "All for You."

The rooms were prettily decorated for the occasion by friends of the bride.

Among the many beautiful presents received by the young couple were a gift of silver and cutlery to the bride from the staff of the Hudson's Bay Company and to the bridegroom, a gift of a filled wallet from the staff of the V.I.M.P.A.

Mr. and Mrs. Gibbs left by the midnight boat for the mainland, and on their return will reside on Beachwood Avenue, Victoria.

MRS. LEVY MOTORS FROM SAN YSIDRO

Arrives Here After 1,400-Mile Motor Trip Through California—Specimens in Column Window

After motoring from San Ysidro, a border town in Southern California, to Victoria, Mrs. A. Levy, accompanied by her son Emmanuel and her daughter, Virginia, has arrived in the city and is staying with her father-in-law, Mr. H. E. Levy, Pemberton Road. Mr. A. Levy arrived from the South a few days ago, having come up by motor stage.

Mrs. Levy was enthusiastic over the 1,400-mile trip which she has just taken, and spoke very highly of the auto camps in which she and her family stayed on the way north. Good weather and excellent roads made the journey very pleasant, and, by traveling fairly slowly they were able greatly to enjoy the scenic beauties of California.

Mrs. Levy brought with her some unusually large pine cones and some specimens of rice, which grows in the fertile Sacramento Valley and was being cut as the party motored through. Some Egyptian corn, quite unknown here, was among the collection of specimens, and a quantity of almonds, which are now being gathered in large quantities in the South.

It is six years since Mrs. Levy was in Victoria, and she expressed her delight at being in the city once again, during a chat with a Colonist representative last evening.

The corn, almonds and pine cones brought from California by Mrs. Levy and her son and daughter, are to be seen in The Colonist office window.

Fashion Fancies

By Marie Belmont

Very youthful in outline is the smart little brown wool crepe costume shown above. The plaited skirt is joined to a yoke that fits the hips to perfection, the blouse is yellow flannel polka-dotted in brown, and the short jacket has a loose cape which is lined to match the blouse. This model could also be carried out effectively in dark red wool crepe, combined with navy flannel dotted in red.

JAPANESE WOMEN'S ART DEMONSTRATED

Miss Ethel Head, Addressing Women's Canadian Club, Gives Interesting Insight to Japan

The infinite delicacy and mystery of Japanese art was delightfully suggested by Miss Ethel Head, a Canadian woman who has just returned to this country after six years' residence in Japan. In an address yesterday to the Women's Canadian Club at the Empress Hotel.

The after-part of the lecture, during which Miss Head demonstrated some of the fascinating arts which she mentioned in the course of her talk, was especially interesting, and a big group gathered about her on the platform to see her work. Using a black lacquer tray as her "canvas," she reproduced an art which is popular with the dainty fingered ladies of Japan. In an address yesterday to the Women's Canadian Club at the Empress Hotel.

The tiny implements used in the craft are in themselves delicate bits of art. Diminutive stencils used in the painting of birds, sun, stars, etc., are fitted with little holders which intensify the possibilities of delicate treatment, and the whole outfit, feathers, stencils, sand, bridge-shapers, etc., is contained in a dainty little cabinet not more than six inches in height, exquisitely suited to the small hands of the Japanese lady.

Another demonstration which greatly interested was an arrangement of mountain-ash after the manner of Japan, where the earth below, and man between, the flower or fruit must have this relationship in its arrangement, the heaven looking at man-and man at the earth. Talking as she demonstrated, Miss Head presently completed a design, remarkable for its simplicity and for the sparing use of both foliage and fruit, but showing the graceful curve of stem and leaf and the significance of the Buddhist symbolism.

The dyeing another art in which the Japanese women are very skilled, was explained, Miss Head bringing several pieces of work to show the interesting color effects achievable, and its resemblance to the Japanese batik in result.

Victoria's Flowers
"The flowers in Japan are not any more wonderful than they are here in Victoria," Miss Head told her audience when speaking about chrysanthemums, a demonstration in the arrangement of which she had intended to give. But in Japan the time of bloom was the time for the holding of entertainments at which one's guests could see one's garden.

After a brief description of the ancient art of "making up," which is quite frankly followed by Japanese ladies, even to the point of expressing their devotion to the husbands by blackening their teeth and otherwise making themselves as unattractive as possible to other men, Miss Head unexpectedly made an appeal to the women of this country, both as organizations and individuals, to uphold the hand of the women of Japan in their movement for emancipation.

"Here you have had success in your effort for emancipation. But there things are only beginning, and you cannot tell how much an expression of interest, a sign that you cared, would help the women there in their attempt to progress. There are conditions over there that simply cry out for reform, and it is through the women of Japan that these reforms must come. The women as a whole are charming, and for centuries have been educated in the virtues of the race. They will, I really believe, be the saviors of their country in time," said Miss Head in conclusion.

Miss Agnew, president, and Mrs. Watson, the soloist, were much applauded after her rendering of "Robin Adair" and "Thou Art Like Unto a Flower."

Nominations for the annual meeting, to take place in two weeks' time, were posted.

Annual Police Ball To Be Held October 22, at Empress Hotel

THE annual City Police Ball will be held at the Empress Hotel on October 22. It was announced last night. Tickets for this event, which will open the Fall and Winter dance season, will be strictly limited. Dress will be formal. Dancing will be held from 8:30 p.m. to 3 a.m. This year's event is expected to be equally as successful as those in the past.

SLANG IS TABOO IN FRENCH GIRLS' CLUB

PARIS, Sept. 21.—Slang is to be taboo in French girls' schools. Anti-slang clubs are to be formed on the model of one founded by a pupil at Puteaux, a suburb of Paris, which has been named "The Benevolent League Against the Corrupt and Vulgar Words Which Are Causing Degeneration of the French Language."

Members of any branch of the club are fined fifty centimes for every banned word used by them. The money taken in is to be given to charity.

Gas Research

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—An appropriation of half a million dollars to be used exclusively in research work, the realization of which are expected to usher in a new era for the use of gas in industry and promise a wonderful expansion for the gas industry itself has been made by the American Gas Association.

This sum is to be collected and expended over a period of five years, said Alexander Forward, its secretary.

Women's Institutes

Victoria
Members of the Victoria Women's Institute wishing to go to Colwood today are asked to meet promptly at the corner of Yates and Broad Streets at 2:15 o'clock.

Qualicum Beach
The monthly meeting of the Qualicum Beach and District Women's Institute was held at Combs on Thursday evening of last week. Acting-President Mrs. Taylor opened the meeting, with fifty members present.

The teachers from the following schools were present and were welcomed to the district by the Institute. Capt. Barry, Miss O'Connell, Miss Qualicum Beach; Miss Edwards, Dashwood; Miss Marshall, Combs; Miss Galloway, Hilliers.

A hearty vote of thanks was given Mrs. Playfair for the tea for members in her garden at Qualicum Beach in August. A long discussion took place about the bazaar which will be held at Combs in October. Proceeds to be given to the Solarium.

Mrs. Waldie was given full charge of the Institute Library until other arrangements can be made. Capt. Barry gave a most interesting lecture on modern education.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Moore and Mrs. Bond and a social evening was spent.

Parksville
Twenty-five members attended the Parksville Women's Institute on Sept. 18, and the roll call on "bobbled hair" caused much merriment and laughter. The roll call was originally intended to bring out the dormant talents of the members who might be shy or diffident, and it was successful in this case, as twelve out of the twenty-five members who attended the meeting answered with a limerick on bobbled hair. There was no meeting in August, but an American tea, on the beach, brought in $20.50. It was decided to hold a children's entertainment in aid of the Solarium on November 5, a whist drive on October 9, in aid of the school library, when each person must represent the title of a book, and a dance on October 23, in aid of the Navy League, where prizes will be given for costumes.

Mr. Tice has asked the Institute to co-operate in the potato show and to exhibit if possible. The School Board acknowledged books which had been added to the school library by the Institute.

A discussion followed regarding Mrs. Gordon's questionnaire, and it was decided to continue the discussion next month, and to vote on the questions before the conference. The various conveners of committees read their questionnaires and were aided by the members in answering them. An important feature is the exchange stall, where members bring their articles for sale and buy what they require, brought by others, giving the Institute five per cent. It is hoped that this stall will grow into something larger, and much more important as time goes on.

News and Notes From Interior of Province

Box Factory Burned

Sumnerland—Last week fire totally destroyed the local box factory and caused a loss conservatively estimated at $20,000. The factory might have been saved had there been an adequate water supply. The serious water shortage situation in Sumnerland meant that the only water to fight fire consisted of that in the tanks at the factory. The fire was caused by a spark from the top of one of the boilers lighting a pile of sawdust in a rather inaccessible place. In a very short time the building was a roaring furnace. The factory was owned by Mr. Muir Stewart.

Okanagan Fruit
Penitence—With the local packing houses filled to the roof with apples, principally McIntosh Reds, and orders for movement out coming in very slowly, it may be necessary for the Co-operative buildings to close down for a few days. Poor weather on the prairies is said to be responsible for the lack of demand for apples at this season. A few Jonathans are now being run in the packing house. Cheques are going out for $20,000 on account of peaches to local growers. There is no indication as yet as to what price for peaches eventually will be paid. Cheques have already been received by growers for their cherry crop, totalling $21,889. The net prices per box are very considerably lower than last year.

Grand Prairie Prosperity
Kamloops—There is a very fair grain harvest at Grand Prairie, says Mr. Joseph Bulman, and farmers have no complaint on that score. There are lots of hogs in that district just now and plenty of feed for them. The railway has made all the difference to that part of the country and there is considerable optimism among the residents. The gymnasium works are busy, shipping four or five cars every other day. Considerable logging is also under way with two sawmills working and another ready to go with many logs cut.

Growing of Seed
PRINCE RUPERT—That the timothy seed grown in the interior valleys is to a large extent threshed and all sold at eight cents a pound, is the word brought by D. D. Munro, provincial agriculturalist. He says that the output will be about 600,000 pounds, which will give the farmers close to fifty thousand dollars and is a good beginning. As the buyers provide the sacks there is little expense attached to shipping the seed. Mr. Munro is much pleased with the outcome.

Mr. McArthur Succumbs
PRINCE RUPERT, Sept. 21.—After he had seemed to be on the road to recovery following an operation, D. McArthur, forty-four, of Vancouver, manager of the Butedale Cannery, died here.

Quartz Radio Control Size of Postage Stamp

LONDON, Sept. 21.—Broadcasting stations can be made to keep absolutely to their allotted wave-length and avoid interference with other stations by means of a piece of quartz no bigger than a postage stamp, which will be on view at the National Radio Exhibition at Olympia next month.

La Preferencia Cigars
BULL DOG Size - 2 for 25¢
BANTAM "10¢ STRAIGHT"

This, at least, is the claim of the exhibitor who declares that a piece of the quartz one inch square and an eighth of an inch thick, placed between plates connected to grid and filament of a valve, will control the wave-length of a mighty broadcasting station.

He: "There are an awful lot of girls who don't want to get married."

She: "How do you know?"

He: "I've asked them."

NEWS OF THE SPORTING WORLD

Dempsey Drifted Into Boxing by Hobo Route

Heavyweight Champion's Career Unique Not Only in So Far as Knockout Record, but Also by the Fact That He Was in the Limelight Quicker Than Any Other Titleholder

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 21.—Jack Dempsey, drifting into pugilism by way of the life of a hobo, rose to fame heights more rapidly than any other ring champion, actually punching his way to the title in less than four years from the time he first pulled on a pair of boxing gloves.

Dempsey's career is unique not only in so far as his record of knockouts is concerned before he became champion, but also by the fact that he was in the limelight in such a short period of time. It took him only one year to compile a record of such formidable character that he earned the opportunity to battle for the biggest honors of the ring.

Through the year of 1918 Dempsey fought nineteen battles and won sixteen of them by knockout. He lost only one decision, dropping that to Willie Meahan in a war benefit contest of four rounds.

Took Nonpareil's Name
Horn of rugged parents thirty-one years ago, Dempsey claims that he has Irish, Scotch and Indian blood in his veins, and insists that the fighting qualities for which all three of these races are famous have been bred in the bone and blood and have come to him in generous proportions from his ancestors. Dempsey's name is William Harrison Dempsey, but when he started fighting he assumed the name of "Jack" after Brooklyn's famous Nonpareil.

Most of Dempsey's early life was spent on a farm, but later he worked in the mines except in harvest time, when he found it more remunerative in devoting his strength to reaping wheat and other crops. In this way Dempsey kept himself in good physical condition.

Dempsey, according to his own story, engaged in his first fight encounter in an improvised ring at Montrose, Colo., which was near his home. Manager, Walter Harrison, who was nineteen years old, that was in the early part of 1918. His first opponent was a young blacksmith named Woods, whom he knocked out in the third round. Dempsey's initial ring appearance netted him the princely sum of $25. His next fight also resulted in a three-round knockout. Andy Malloy, who had previously walloped one of Dempsey's brothers, was the victim.

SARAZEN TAKES COUNT OF "LONG" JIM BARNES

Walter Hagen, Leo Diegel, Farrell and Sarazen Survive Wave of Low Scoring at Salisbury

GARDEN CITY, N.Y., Sept. 21.—A wave of low scoring swept over the Salisbury Links today, carrying Walter Hagen, Leo Diegel, Johnny Farrell and Gene Sarazen on a crest of easy victories in the first round of the Professional Golf Association championship.

A one-sided victory by Farrell over Al Watrous, Grand Rapids, Minn., 4 and 5, furnished the outstanding surprise. Watrous was swept off his feet by the Eastern professional's unflinching hitting.

Off the line with his tie and iron shot, the veteran Jim Barnes yielded to a brilliant second round spurt by Sarazen, 5 and 4. Panning out of the fight with Barnes, Watrous turned runner-up to Bobby Jones in the 1923 open, and Harry Cooper, of Kansas City.

Racing at Salt Lake

SALT LAKE, Sept. 21.—The results of the horse racing here today are as follows:

Fourth race, 5 furlongs: 1, Dr. Scott, 112 (Moller), $5.80; 2, Pretzel, 110 (Dye), $5.40; 3, Phillip Lugo, 110 (Donohue), $4.60. Time, 1:03 1/5.

Fifth race, Newhouse Course: 1, Faithful Girl, 104 (Connolly), $32.14; 2, Lomon Sea, 109 (Winters), $4.40; 3, Little Tokalon, 103 (Craigmore), $7.60. Time, 1:12 1/5.

Sixth race, 5 1/2 furlongs: 1, Doctor K, 107 (Lounan), $4.80; 2, $2.80; 3, Hilarity, 114 (Hay), $4.80; 3, Hedge, 104 (Buck), $3.20. Time, 1:08.

Seventh race, mile and sixteenth: 1, Mrs. Pat, 104 (Lounan), $14.40; 2, Contador, 104 (Craigmore), $7.20; 3, Hackamore, 104 (Winters), $3.80. Time, 1:51 1/5.

Eighth race, mile and sixteenth: 1, Nancy Wines, 108 (Craigmore), $12.50; 2, Crusen, 107 (Winters), $5.40; 3, Ponomoi, 105 (Hiser), $5.80. Time, 1:49 2/5.

Overnight Entries

First race—Five and a half furlongs: Altamora, 100; Imperial, 111; Lantern, 107; Misch Oblique, 108; Noxia Curl, 106; Kahen, 115; Henry J., 112; Esther Marie, 104; Little Bum, 122; Dewey Field, 107; Dixie Boy, 112; Lastra, 104; Concha, 112; Snow Mountain, 112; Romulus, 109.

Second race—Five furlongs: The Yamp, 104; Lawrence, 108; Folsie Alarm, 101; Woodie Montgometry, 105;

When he was about twenty years old Dempsey began roaming round, taking up the life of a hobo, a youth with wanderlust who rode the roads for the fun of it and fought occasionally for the excitement as much as for the small sums of money it brought him. Dempsey took on a bout whenever the opportunity offered. Between times he returned to odd farming jobs or worked as a miner.

By long odds his most impressive achievement was the victory that opened the avenue to his fight with Willard. That was against Fred Fulton, the Minnesota contender, who was stretched on the canvas, dead to the world, in the remarkably short space of twenty-three seconds. This fight, a contest that stirred the boxing world, was staged at Harrison, N.J., in 1918. Praise immediately was heaped on Dempsey and he was heralded as the next champion of his class.

Dempsey's victory in four rounds over the giant, Jess Willard, who won the championship and his triumph over Luis Angel Firpo in two rounds also stand out as stirring battles of his career.

Short Fights
Previous to his championship encounter with Willard, Dempsey knocked out numerous heavyweights, the majority of them in a couple of punches. Among his victims were Carl Morris, the original "white hope," Battling Levinsky, Bill Brennan, Bob Devere, Jim Flynn, Dan Fok Flynn, Terry Keller, Bob McAllister, Al Norton, Gunboat Smith, Homer Smith, Arthur Pecky, and a host of others.

Dempsey's first manager was A. J. Auerbach, a business man at Salt Lake City, who had taken an interest in him and helped him financially to start on his fight career. When Dempsey was knocked out in the first round by Jim Flynn in their contest in Salt Lake City in 1917, a result that Auerbach regarded as queer, he told Dempsey to hunt up a new manager. He drifted to New York, where he met with "John J. Harber" Reiser. A few months later he returned west. While in San Francisco he became acquainted with Jack Kearns in a gymnasium and remained with him until their smash-up about a year ago.

Ruth Hits Another

Argentines Win
WESTBURY, N.Y., Sept. 21.—The Argentine team today defeated the Orange County 13 to 3, in the final game of the American open polo championship at the Meadowbrook Club. The Argentines will play the Huronians for the championship tomorrow.

The Victoria and District First Division Football league will be officially opened on Saturday with two games—the Victoria Wests and the Saanich Thistles meet at the Beacon Hill Athletic Park, while James Island and Esquimalt will play conclusions at Beacon Hill. Both games will commence at 3 p.m.

With four teams in the league this season a much better brand of soccer is looked for by those in charge. All of the clubs have been strengthened, and the race for the honors promises to be keenly contested. Esquimalt, who last year made an exceptionally good showing and won most of the honors, will be back strong again. The Wests have been on the warpath in the search of players and have some good material signed up. The Greenhills have always been strong contenders and for many years were considered to be one of the best eleven in the city. This season they will make a strong bid for the championship. The James Islanders have played many a hectic battle in the last two seasons, and their appearance on local grounds has always been a good drawing card. This season the powder experts are going out to scoop the first division honors.

Saanich Thistles Branch Out
The fourth club in the league is the Saanich Thistles. Last year this club played in junior company and won all the local competitions, but lost out in the provincial title after a hard fight with the Mainland champions. This season the Thistles have cast their lot with senior company and although they will find the going a little harder they are expected to give a good account of themselves. Large crowds are expected out on Saturday to get their first glimpse of the teams in action.

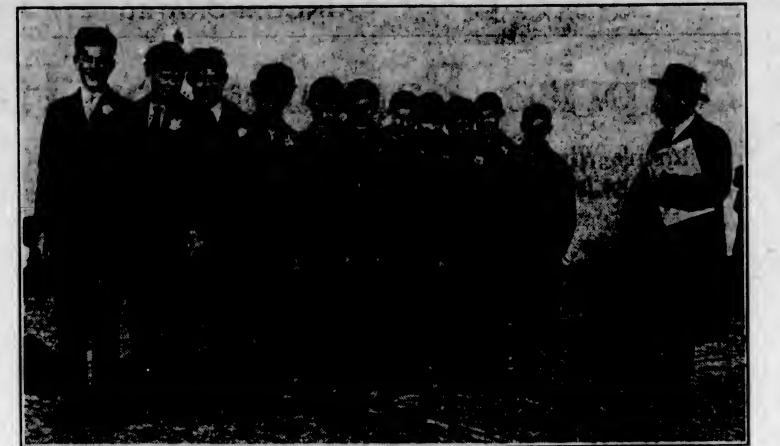

London's New Hockey Rinks Near Completion
London's new hockey rink rapidly nearing completion will be called the "Ice Club." It has been formed to provide ice skating and a curling rink for the members of the corporation financing it. It is located on Grosvenor Road about 600 yards from the Houses of Parliament. Canadian and American teams are expected to participate in games there this winter.

Tillicums to Practice
The Tillicum soccer eleven will work out this afternoon at Beacon Hill Park at 3 o'clock. Members of last year's squad and any others wishing a tryout are invited to attend.

Hudson's Bay Practice
The Hudson's Bay Football Club will hold a practice this afternoon at Beacon Hill at 3 o'clock. All of last year's players and any others who would like a tryout are asked to attend and get in shape for the opening of the league next Wednesday.

Grass Hockey Meeting
The annual meeting of the Victoria Grass Hockey Association will be held tonight at 8 o'clock in the old Cathedral schoolroom, Quadra Street. All interested are invited to attend.

Scottish Football Team Takes to Farming

THESE husky Scottish boys are already established in Canada, and are seeking their fortunes in Canadian agricultural fields. They sailed on the Canadian Pacific liner Montclair some time ago from Glasgow under the direction of Dr. G. C. Cosser, well known authority on boy emigration, who is seen at the right of the photograph. There were twenty-three in all, and eleven of them, here photographed, constitute Dr. Cosser's football eleven, willing to play any juvenile association football team in Canada.

But football is only a secondary consideration with these boys, for they arrived in Canada inspired with prospects for a bright agricultural future in this Dominion. These lads got into the right of the photograph. There were twenty-three in all, and eleven of them, here photographed, constitute Dr. Cosser's football eleven, willing to play any juvenile association football team in Canada.

With the concession that the St. Louis Nationals have clinched the pennant, Wall Street firms announced offers of odds at six to five that New York Yanks will win the world's series.

Calamity also befell the New York Yanks when they slipped again in the slump that has marked their play for the last week. New York lost two games to Chicago, 7-3 and 4-3, but with the Boston Red Sox shipping Cleveland, 3-2, in ten innings only a half-game was clipped from the three and one-half game margin of the Yankees.

Cleveland now appears to have but a mathematical chance of winning the pennant. If New York wins only two of the six remaining games, the Indians must win all of their six to grab the banner. The standing today:

Three Leading National Teams Lose Their Games

St. Louis, Cincinnati and Pittsburgh Fail to Better Standing in Race for Pennant—New York Americans Retain Three-Game Lead Over Cleveland

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—Joe Petty held the Cardinals to six hits today while the Robins staged a four-run rally in the eighth to beat their old-time foe, Bill Sherdel, and won the opener of a two-game series, 4 to 3, as the Reds bowed to the Braves today. St. Louis retained its margin in first place.

Boston once more proved bad medicine for Cincinnati, winning the last game of the Boston series, 4-0. Genewick kept the eight Cincinnati hits scattered and received good support. The double plays helped him considerably.

The Phillies bunched their hits on Meadows today and defeated the visiting Pirates, 7-2.

New York grouped four hits with an error in the sixth to score four runs.

Leading into the final furling of the dash for the National League banner, the St. Louis Cardinals unexpectedly found themselves with a full two-game lead over Cincinnati today, as the result of another Boston Braves uprising in New England.

The Redskins, who continually walloped pennant contenders only to fall shamefully before opponents of lesser calibre, handed two smashing defeats to Cincinnati yesterday, 4-3 and 3-0, just as the Reds were racing through the stretch on the very tail of the Cardinals. St. Louis, with no game scheduled yesterday, have only five more games to play and with Cincinnati playing a like number, seem definitely headed for the pennant.

Jack Hendrick may lash his men to victory in all their starts, one of them with St. Louis and still only tie with the Cardinals if the latter win three out of five. The Cardinals can lose games and still tie if Cincinnati meets defeat just once more.

Moorish Chief Traces Wars to Blow on Face

Riffian Chief, Departing for Exile, Says Spanish General's Attack Roused Him to Violent Hatred—Costly Punch in Jaw

PARIS, Sept. 21.—Somewhere through the Mediterranean there ploughed a French paquebot, on the deck of which stood a squat, hawk-beaked man with a short, bristly black beard. For over five years, out of sheer audacity and hatred, unaided by modern war implements, he held at bay the armies of two powerful European nations. Now he has been sent on a 7,000-mile voyage into oblivion for the rest of his life, but he leaves as if assured of the lasting notoriety of his own story of his brigandage.

It is the story of one of the world's most costly punches in the jaw—a blow which has cost Spain and France several billion dollars and thousands of lives. All that says Abd-el-Krim, was caused by a hasty, right-handed smash in the face, struck by an angry Spanish general. It has taken five years of bloodshed and guerrilla warfare in the Rif to pay for that blow. If the Arab chieftain's assertions are true, he now begins his part of the payment with a long, long ride into exile on an Allah-forsaken bit of land called Reunion Island, far east of Madagascar, in the lonely South Indian Ocean. With him go Krim's brother and first lieutenant, also the Rif leaders' two wives and five children.

Recalls Hate-Stirring Blow
But before the paquebot Amiral Pierre started from Marseilles the other day Abd-el-Krim told French officers the amazing story of how he was transformed in five seconds from an amiable, jolly chieftain of the tribe to a warrior swearing vengeance, first on all Spaniards and then on all Christians in Morocco.

It was not a bitter tribesman whom the officers and newspapermen saw, however, but a quiet, gentle-faced self-cultured man whose hatred was the toughest thing about him. He had been treated kindly by the French, he said. He had been mistaken in warring against them. As for the Spaniards—the blow in the face was not forgotten. Not only did it set a fire in him burning with a desire for revenge, but it also created an ambition to form a Rif republic and a federation of independent tribes.

Then the story of the billion-dollar punch in the jaw was told by the soft-spoken Arab. Up to the moment of this incident Abd-el-Krim had been unheard of except in the recesses of his own native Rifian mountains. Until this time, in 1925, Krim said he had been on friendly terms with the Spaniards and French and had never dreamed of leading the tribes in a general attack on the whites of Morocco. Now and then other tribes broke out in brief attacks. After one of these sporadic scraps with a neighboring tribe, Krim narrates, he went to General Silvestre, the head of the Spanish troops in that district, and told him if the Spaniards were anxious to pacify the tribesmen he thought that by paying their chief the sum of, say, 100,000 pesetas they would agree to behave themselves.

Struck by Raging General
"Silvestre flew into a raging fury," said Abd-el-Krim. "He cried that I was a robber and I couldn't bribe him." Then, before I knew what he was doing, he struck me full in the face. The blow was so unexpected and so powerful that it knocked me to the ground. I felt bleeding from the mouth. What could I do? There were Spanish soldiers everywhere. I had only a handful of my tribe with me. I only staggered to my feet and returned to my fellow tribesmen. But within me there was kindled in that moment a terrific hatred of Silvestre and all Spaniards. As I rose I swore that I would avenge that blow a thousand times. I went back committed to lead my tribe and all the other tribes I could enlist in a ceaseless war against the Spaniards. For over five years I kept that oath. Spain can judge whether Silvestre's brutality was avenged."

Krim tries to justify his mediation offer by saying that the Spaniards had frequently before bought off tribes to keep peace in Morocco. He was only following the custom when he approached the Spanish general.

Launched War of Vengeance
Immediately a war of vengeance was launched. The first raids of unbridled brutality were led by Krim, which soon spread his name as the most relentless and cruellest Arab chief in the Rif. By 1923 he had defeated the Spanish very badly, forcing them to withdraw from the Rif. More and more tribes were rallying to Krim to the battle cry of a religious war, the frenzy growing with their successes. As a result of his unusual successes against the Spaniards, Krim admits his desire for power increased.

He became so confident that he believed he could drive out the French as well, and began planning his offensive by rallying the tribes for a drive which started in the Spring of 1925. The Rif chief stirred up the Arabs by painting a picture of the enormous booty available in the rich lands held by the French to the south, once the French were beaten the same as the Spaniards.

As the French were unprepared for a sudden attack on their zone, long peaceful, and also hampered by finances, the fiery Rifian at first gained more victories. The war dragged on month by month, costing France 11,000,000 to 15,000,000 francs daily, with increasing casualties. Then the Rif drive gradually halted, met with the reverse and the tribes failed to become excited by Krim's religious exhortations. Unable to get proper military equipment and guns, with holes in his ranks from desertion to the French, Krim was forced to negotiate for peace last May and finally surrendered unconditionally to the French.

Krim points out that he would not have considered surrendering to the Spaniards—for the French he had no particular animosity—but he still hates Spain.

As he narrated his story to the French officers, the iron-muscled little Rifian said, "I wanted to make my country an independent state." For a while he thought the federation was successful. In 1923 going so far as to sign a paper in Fez adopting a republic. But, Krim admitted, religious fanaticism was one of the chief causes of his failure, the tribes were too roving and wanted too much freedom, and therefore Abd-el-Krim's dream of a Rifian republic was shattered. Discouraged, he resigned his fate to the hands of the French.

Before his steamer started on the 7,000-mile voyage off the East African coast Krim expressed his appreciation of the kindness with which he was treated as a French military prisoner. Though sentenced to stay the rest of his life on Reunion Island, the ex-guerrilla faced exile calmly. Abd-el-Krim started life as an illiterate and tried to educate himself between wars. Cared for by his two wives, perhaps he will study philosophy in that far-off spot in the Indian Ocean, where the ships touch only twice a year.

WORLD'S POULTRY SHOW AT OTTAWA

Sixteen Foreign Countries to Exhibit—Thousand Automobiles Will Take Part in Tour

TORONTO, Sept. 21.—Sixteen foreign countries have already accepted invitations to send delegates to the World's Poultry Congress, to be held in Ottawa next summer. It was stated at a meeting of the congress preparatory committee at the Canadian National Exhibition. Reports were received from committee members on different features of the congress, and all reported progress in their work of arranging for the largest gathering of poultry authorities that has ever taken place in the Dominion.

The United States has agreed to send 1,000 automobiles to take part in the tour which is being arranged from United States border points to Ottawa, and the American Poultry Association will stage one of the largest foreign exhibits to be presented at the congress. This exhibit will consist of a trio of each of the 108 standard varieties of fowl and the origin of these birds will be illustrated by charts and photographs. Russia is sending a large delegation and an exhibit, and it is expected that country's delegates will be prepared to read twenty-one papers at the congress.

Royalty will be represented at the show, the Prince of Wales having decided to exhibit with other poultry fanciers in Great Britain. All the English varieties of fowl will be included in the British section.

Lord Willington, Canada's new Governor-General, will be the chief patron of the congress. Arrangements have been made to take a number of the foreign delegates on a tour of Canada from coast to coast.

Bengough Breaks Arm

CLEVELAND, Sept. 21.—Catcher Bengough of the New York American league team is out of the game for the rest of the year. His right arm was broken by a pitched ball in Saturday's game with Cleveland.

Wanderers to Meet

A meeting of the Oak Bay Wanderers Intermediate Rugby team will be held in the Chamber of Commerce at 8 o'clock Thursday night. All of last year's players and any others interested are invited to attend.

Woodbine Racing Opens on Muddy Track

THE Fall racing season opened in Ontario this week under decidedly muddy conditions, as may be inferred from the above photograph, taken at the Woodbine, Toronto, which shows several of the riders weighing in at the official scale in the judges' paddock after a race. Standing in the doorway is J. B. Campbell, one of the placing judges, and considered as one of the best racing men in America.

Woman Life Guard Swims Around Manhattan Island

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—Miss Lottie Schoemmel, New York City's only woman life guard, swam the forty miles around Manhattan Island Sunday. In the unofficial time of 14 hours and 21 minutes.

This time bettered the record held by Mrs. Amelia Gade Corson, successful swimmer of the English Channel, by 36 minutes.

GENEVA POPULAR AS PLACE OF MEETINGS

Victor Hugo First Suggested City as Scene of Peace Congress—Economic Problems Foremost

GENEVA, Sept. 21.—How steadily Geneva is increasing in importance as the centre of international activities is shown by the large number of conferences to be held this Autumn here.

As far back as 1847 the first World Congress of Peace was held at Geneva on the suggestion of Victor Hugo whilst the great French writer was under exile by Napoleon III. Great figures in the liberal life of Europe participated at this great congress, and the people of Geneva acclaimed enthusiastically the Italian patriot Garibaldi as he arrived at the railway station. So delicious indeed was the welcome that the multitude unhitched the horses from his carriage and themselves triumphantly conducted Garibaldi down the Rue du Mont Blanc to his hotel.

It is regarded as significant by many people that this year's congress will concentrate upon economic problems, thus giving the impression that international peace is more in danger from economic conflicts than from direct political dissensions. Customs tariff questions, and the difficulties arising out of the fluctuations in exchange—both figure on the agenda; while in a broad way will be discussed the question of the sovereignty of states, believed by many to present a widely different aspect in modern days, when people of various nations are more dependent upon one another, than they were when Garibaldi came to Geneva.

Late Samuel Gompers
The memory of Samuel Gompers, former president of the American Federation of Labor, will be suitably honored in the new building of the International Labor Office at Geneva.

Although the United States is not a member of the International Labor organization, Mr. Gompers took a keen interest in the association from its inception, and a leading part in the formation of its charter.

FREIGHT RATE WAR
ON SILK STARTEDK.K.K. ANNOUNCES REDUCTION ON SHIPMENTS OF SILK FROM
YOKOHAMATrans-Pacific Steamship Conference
Is Considering Taking Counter Steps

A freight rate war on silk cargoes has been started by the Kawanishi Kisen Kaisha, which only two months ago made the move that brought about a freight rate war for tea shipments from Shanghai. It was learned on the arrival of the President Jefferson from the Orient.

The company has announced silk freights from Yokohama at the specially reduced rate of $4 a bale against the stipulated freight of $4.50 by the Trans-Pacific Steamship Conference.

This Japanese shipping firm has cut the tea freight from Shanghai to the United States during the past two months and caused consternation among the conference steamers. Riskless freight competition followed as a result. Now that the tea season is already past its height, the Kawanishi interest has decided to come in for a share of the silk transportation to America.

The firm is making silk exporters, Japanese and foreign, in Yokohama to ship by its ships. The Baltimore Maru, 9,000 tons, one of the largest freighters belonging to the "K" line, recently carried from Yokohama an unusually large cargo of 1,350 bales to Seattle at the reduced rate of $3.

The firm expects to take more large consignments hereafter. Counter steps are being considered by the conference ships.

Shipping Notes

The Nippon Yusen Kaisha liner, Atago Maru, will dock here Friday morning, according to latest advice received by Mr. A. H. Hebb, local representative. This vessel has 200 tons of freight on board for discharge here.

The Canadian Highlander is due here from the United Kingdom this afternoon. She has 150 tons of freight for discharge here. The Canadian Tower, of the same line, will dock early this morning from California ports.

Completing repairs at the new $6,000,000 Government drydock, the oil tanker Reginolite sailed for California at 9 o'clock yesterday morning. Work was progressing rapidly on the tanker Imperial, Yarrow, Ltd., reported yesterday.

PRINCESSES WILL BE CHANGED SOONKATHLEEN AND MARGUERITE TO BE WITHDRAWN FOR WINTER
NEXT WEEK

Princess Charlotte, and Probably Princess Adelaide Will Succeed Them on Triangular Service

The Princess Kathleen and Marguerite will be withdrawn from the triangular run Thursday week, according to an announcement made yesterday by Captain J. W. Troup, manager of the B.C. Coast Steamship Service.

After September 30 the places of the Princesses will be taken by the Princess Charlotte, and another vessel to be assigned, the decision not yet being made, though probably the Adelaide will be chosen. The Princess Charlotte was not available last winter, during her extensive overhaul prior to operating in the Alaskan service this summer.

Both the Kathleen and Marguerite will be overhauled, but no extensive work is considered necessary at the close of the second season, discussing the business of that season, Captain Troup remarked that while there had not been such heavy travel in 1925 as in 1926, when conventions were particularly numerous, the traffic could be considered as satisfactory. The operating costs and character of service had been well sustained.

Princess Kathleen Will Be Withdrawn
September 30 From Triangular Run

Captain Troup has again received during the season many expressions of praise on the character of the accommodation, the furnishings and equipment of the vessels having won much praise.

RADIO STATION TO SERVE WEST COASTMessrs. Prior & Co. Will Broadcast
Position of Princess Kathleen
Each Evening

The local radio station, C.F.C.T., will be used to furnish a West Coast information service.

When Mr. C. P. W. Schwengers, manager of E. G. Prior & Company, visited the West Coast last year, he was impressed with the difficulties of communication, and particularly with the inconvenience caused by the lack of knowledge as to the time of calls made by the steamer Princess Kathleen at the various ports, both on her north and southbound trips. It is often the case that the people along that coast, expecting the steamer to arrive at a given time, will have to sit up all night, and perhaps wait part of the next day before she arrives, if she is behind schedule.

Through the courtesy of Captain Troup, of the B.C. Coast Steamship Service, information will be furnished to E. G. Prior & Co. at the close of each day, indicating the exact location of the steamer Princess Kathleen, where she is at the time, hour of sailing from whatever port she is at, and the approximate time of her arrival at the next station.

This information will be distributed daily at 7:30 o'clock in the evening by Messrs. E. G. Prior & Co. over the C.F.C.T. station, so that at all West Coast points the information can be secured at this hour of the day direct from Victoria by radio as to the exact movement of the steamer. The service being rendered is one that will have immense time and anxiety.

Bank Vault Warehouse For Valuable Crop

KELSO, Wash., Sept. 21.—A crop so valuable it was stored in a bank vault was grown this year on the farm of Alexander Brothers near Woodland, in southwestern Washington.

They planted sixty acres to pepper-mint a single acre producing from forty to fifty-five pounds of oil. The oil was sold at $10 a pound bringing the value of a five gallon can to $400.

At the Playhouses

COLISEUM "Pollyanna" the romantic drama at the Coliseum this week contains an abundance of good, clean humor. Mrs. Carnody (Edith Allwood), Miss Carroll (Lorna Griffith) and Mrs. Gregg (Violet Taylor), loquacious members of the Ladies' Aid, all furnish a great deal of the humor in this play, filling their roles perfectly, and showing the uncharitable side frequently to be met with in these societies. Ruth Hamilton as a maid, interested in the affairs of everybody, as usual is a scream.

PLAYHOUSE is a man ever too busy to pay court to his wife? This tiresome domestic question is settled definitely by Corinne Griffith in her latest First National release, "Infatuation," now showing at the Playhouse Theatre. According to Corinne—but why spoil the story for our movie fan readers? Advance reports are to the effect that the little star puts the question on the query for all time.

CAPITOL The opening of the Indian lands for settlement by the Whites in the epic story of Fox Films production of "Three Bad Men," which is now playing at the Capitol Theatre. Not only is this an intensely interesting picture of one of the most romantic periods of American history, that following soon after the Civil War, but it is also a gripping story of the struggle of two youthful lovers for land. George O'Brien plays the part of the hard riding young pioneer, Dan O'Malley, and Olive Borden as the winsome but courageous young orphan, "The Three Bad Men," historically accurate portraits of the bad men of that period, are splendidly portrayed by J. Farrell MacDonald, Tom Santschi and Frank Campeau. The supporting cast is one of the strongest assembled for a picture in some time, including as it does such well known film favorites as Lou Tellegen in the role of the villain, George Harris, Jay Hunt, who starred in "Lightning," Prietella Bonner, Tom Santschi, Walter Perry, Grace Gordon, George Irving and Alec B. Francis, star of "Thank You."

DOMINION An actor's ability is not always confined to acting. This was recently demonstrated when Roy Applegate was engaged to enact the role of a doctor in Thomas Meighan's latest starring picture, "Tin Gods," which is now showing at the Dominion Theatre. The sequence to be shot took place against the background provided by a small Spanish town. Tom is supposed to be sick with a tropical fever. During rehearsal, Mr. Applegate went through his part with so professional a manner that Director Allan Dwan's curiosity was aroused. It was then discovered that Applegate had studied medicine and actually taken examinations for a doctor's degree! Renee Adore and Aileen Pringle are featured in Mr. Meighan's support.

COLUMBIA The local screen never presented anything more tender and more beautiful than the William Fox picture "Over the Hill," which is showing for the last time today, at the Columbia Theatre. The simplicity and humanness of the tale won a capacity audience at the Columbia Theatre last night from the start. In fact, it is doubtful if any other theatrical attraction in recent years seen in this city has gained such distinct and enthusiastic favor as has "Over the Hill."

Valentino Picture At Dominion Monday Smashes Records

Smashing records in a dozen sections of the country and with national box office power so tremendous that police reserves were called out in Chicago, Newark, N.J., and Charlotte, N.C., "The Son of the Sheik," Rudolph Valentino's last picture distributed by United Artists Corporation, claims the distinction of being probably the biggest production available today.

In addition to breaking all existing box office records at Loew's State Theatre, New York, and Loew's Metropolitan Theatre, Brooklyn, "The Son of the Sheik" pulled a crowd of 5,000 people to the Rialto Theatre, Newark, for the opening matinee, and police reserves were called upon to prevent serious disorder. The crowd collected about 11 o'clock in the morning and grew until a line almost a block long was formed.

Practically the same thing occurred at the Tivoli Theatre, Chicago. According to telegraphic advice received by Hiram Abrams, president of United Artists Corporation, within an hour after the doors of the Tivoli Theatre were opened for the first showing of "The Son of the Sheik," it was necessary to call police to control crowds. This is almost unprecedented in Chicago in the case of a feature that has already played a four weeks' engagement in that city. The first engagement broke all records of the Roosevelt Theatre for four consecutive weeks. Among other houses that broke records with "The Son of the Sheik," are the Imperial, San Francisco; the Million Dollar Theatre, Los Angeles; Royal Theatre, Kansas City; Virginia Theatre, Atlantic City; Strand Theatre, Minneapolis; Clemmer Theatre, Spokane, and Columbia Theatre, Seattle.

The biggest day's business in the history of Lafayette, Buffalo, was the first day of the engagement of "The Son of the Sheik." The Stanley's remarkable record with the first showing of the Valentino film in Philadelphia is likely to be eclipsed during later showings.

SMOKER HELD FOR PARLEY DELEGATES

More Than 300 A. and N. Veterans Entertained at Gala Event—Presentation Made

More than 300 comrades of the Army & Navy Veterans' Association were entertained at an elaborate smoker held last night at the association's headquarters.

One of the main features of the programme was an address given by the Dominion president, Major-General William A. Griesbach, who was introduced by Mr. George Gardiner, president of the Victoria branch, and a Dominion vice-president.

Several popular selections were played on a tin whistle by Mr. Gardiner, followed by a vocal solo by Mr. C. Jasper, first vice-president. Comrades Morris, McBride, Obee, Barnard, and Constable William J. Thomson, of the Provincial Police, also rendered a number of interesting selections.

Comrade J. H. Vannick, of the Shushaness Hospital, Vancouver, made a presentation of a silk shawl to the local branch to be raffled off for the benefit of the organization. The Winnipeg delegation which attended the smoker included: Captain J. Thuid, C. O'Malley, G. Champney, C. Barnard, Captain Morris Jones, Sergeant-Major R. M. Macapellain and G. W. Maxwell, secretary-treasurer of the organization.

Another Indian Riot

NAINITAL, United Provinces, British India, Sept. 21.—Hindu pilgrims, beating drums and singing, while passing a Moslem mosque in Najibabad in the Bijnour district Sunday, caused a riot. Four persons were killed and forty injured.

GRAIN COMES QUICKLY WHEN WEATHER ALLOWS

More Than Two Thousand Cars Loaded Yesterday—Rain Begins Again in Manitoba

WINNIPEG, Sept. 21.—For the first time this season grain inspections for one day in the Prairie Provinces exceeded those of the same period last year, totalling 2,104, as against 1,673 cars. The marketing on the Canadian Pacific amounted to 2,297,641 bushels, with a loading of 1,289 cars. The two days' fine weather have enabled the farmers to carry their grain to the elevators, and if it continues the movement will be fast and steady.

Weather reports this morning, however, are not very heartening. Rain started in three divisions on the Canadian Pacific in Manitoba this morning. Threshing in Saskatchewan was fairly general yesterday, but with the exception of the Maple Creek, Empress and Hurstall subdivisions, snow has caused the suspension of operations in practically the entire Province of Alberta.

Malina: It is very strange that no one has ever been able to find Captain Kidd's treasure.

Meat: Oh, well, Captain Kidd was not the only man who put his money into real estate and couldn't get it out.

This Huge Taxi Fleet Rolls up 5,000,000 Miles on Marvelube MOTOR OIL

1234 BLEURY
PLATEAU 3221
Diamond Taxicab Association Limited
CHARGES POUR VOS DE COMPTES—METER EQUIPPED CARS
Contact: August 25th 1926.
Imperial Oil Limited, Montreal.
Gentlemen,
We are operating 424 taxicabs in the City of Montreal. We pay particular attention to the lubrication of our motor equipment as we consider it an essential feature in keeping down our operating costs. We believe in using the best oil obtainable and after experiments have decided on your Marvelube. We have been using Marvelube ever since it came on the market last spring and we have had the very best results from it. We find it entirely free from carbon and we seem to get smoother operation of our engines when using this oil.
Yours truly,
DIAMOND TAXICAB ASSOCIATION LIMITED,
per A. B. Bouchard President.

THE Diamond Taxicab Association's fleet represents a huge investment. Their choice of "the best oil obtainable" is, therefore, a matter of imperative importance.

The average daily mileage of each of their 424 taxicabs is 100 miles—or 42,400 miles per day. In the four months they have been using Marvelube the fleet has travelled approximately 5,000,000 miles—with "the very best results." They find Marvelube "entirely free from carbon" and that it gives "smoother operation."

Taxicab service puts unusually severe demands on any lubricating oil. No individual motorist can put Marvelube to such a gruelling test. But any motorist can get the same degree of satisfaction and economy from Marvelube as the Diamond Taxicab Association.

You can safely follow the motor oil selection of this organization, which is so fully qualified to judge lubricating oils and so vitally concerned in using the best as a matter of cold business practice.

IMPERIAL OIL LIMITED

Good Engineering Practice

All automotive engineers agree that it is important to always have the oil system flushed out with a light grade of oil (not coal oil) before re-billing your engine with fresh oil—and also to avoid speeding up your engine for the first few minutes after the new oil is put in.

Another important point is to always secure the exact grade of Marvelube that is specially recommended for your particular car. Our Chart of Recommendations should be your guide. There are six grades, one for every make and model of automobile.

CONCERT SEASON IS SUCCESSFULLY OPENED

Mr. Edward Parsons Takes Concert Company to Temperance Hall at Keating

KEATING, Sept. 21.—The Winter concert season was commenced on Monday evening in a pleasing manner when Mr. Edward Parsons' concert company of Victoria presented a delightful programme in Temperance Hall, under the auspices of the Ladies Aid Society of the South Saanich United Church, the occasion being the annual Harvest Home entertainment held by that society.

An enthusiastic audience greeted each number with hearty applause; the programme being as follows:

Piano solo by Mr. Edward Parsons; vocal solos by Mr. F. Wright, Miss Phyllis Deaville, Mrs. Edward Parson, Mr. James Bryant; vocal duet by Miss Phyllis Deaville and Miss Dorothy Parsons; vocal solos by Mrs. George Reid, Mr. F. Wright, Miss Dorothy Parsons and Mr. James Bryant.

During a short interval in the programme candy was sold by the Misses C. MacNab, D. Mitchell, J. and A. Heyer, and Sadie Parsons.

At the conclusion of the programme Captain N. Grey, on behalf of the Ladies Aid, moved a very hearty vote of thanks to the performers which was in turn conveyed to them by Rev. Mr. Lees, who made a very capable chairman. Mr. Edward Parsons responded suitably, after which refreshments followed.

Keating
Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Mitchell returned to their home, Telegraph Road, on Sunday, after spending a pleasant trip motoring to Los Angeles and other southern points.

Mrs. F. Goodwin, of Victoria, was a weekend visitor at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Ryan, Central Saanich Road.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester, of High Street, Victoria, are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wright, Telegraph Road.

The fortnightly military 500 card party was held in the Temperance Hall on Saturday evening. Although the attendance was rather small, a good game was enjoyed. At the conclusion of the game refreshments were served by the committee, the Misses Janet Sherring, Hilda Ryan, Ona Young and Florence Hamilton. The next game will be on Saturday evening, October 2.

WILL SUE WATER RATE DEFAULTERS

NANAIMO, Sept. 21.—Those in arrears of water rates must pay within the next day or two or else appear in the small debts court, was the verbal report submitted to the City Council at the weekly meeting last night by Alderman Blain, chairman of the finance committee. He stated that recently notices had been sent out to delinquents, and in all cases where a settlement had not been made in some kind, action will be taken in the courts.

Alderman Ferguson drew the attention of the Board to the fact that city workmen, engaged in putting in a fifteen-inch drain at what is known as the Nichol Street cave-in, are working a full eight-hour shift, under very wet and disagreeable conditions. He moved, and his motion carried, that they be allowed $5 per day while on this job.

SECRETARY EXPLAINS CATHEDRAL PROJECT

St. Paul's, Nanaimo, Congregation Hears Appeal for Building Fund

NANAIMO, Sept. 21.—Mr. A. R. Merrix, secretary of the new cathedral committee, addressing the congregation of St. Paul's Church here, Sunday night, told them why he was supporting the undertaking.

The new cathedral, he said, would be an outstanding witness in the capital city of the province to the gospel of Jesus Christ. It would be a reminder to all who saw it, from land and sea, of the new life and power that Christ had brought to the world, and constantly offered to all who would receive it and follow His teaching.

As the cathedral and mother church of the island diocese, it would be a central house of prayer and rest, open daily throughout the year, and free to all who wished to enter it.

"It was significant," Mr. Merrix declared, "that the first procession to walk the length of the floor of the new cathedral included Canadians, Englishmen, Americans, Indians, Japanese and Chinese, all marching together as members of one family, the human race, in God's world."

The cathedral had assisted church work throughout the island for seventy years, and was still giving service and thousands of dollars annually to the same purpose.

Now that the foundation stone had been laid, it was prepared to build the nave upon the foundation as soon as funds permitted. Towards an estimated cost of $300,000, the sum of $150,000 had already been subscribed, and gifts were now invited from all church people and supporters of the new cathedral on the island.

Alleged Confession Is Made by Former Cowboy

SANTA ANA, Cal., Sept. 21.—Alfred Dewey Gaines, former Great Falls, Mont., cowboy, has confessed to the murder of Joseph Patterson, Los Angeles stockbroker, several months ago, it was learned here today. Patterson's body was found in the Santa Ana canyon near here.

Goodwin was returned here from New York where he was arrested two months ago and charged with the crime. When told of the alleged confession, Goodwin said he would not talk before his trial.

AMERICAN LEGION TO VISIT VICTORIA

MAPLE LEAF POST OF LEGION IN SEATTLE WILL SEND OVER DELEGATION

Memorial Service Will Be Held Sunday Afternoon at Parliament Square by Visitors

Members and friends of the Maple Leaf Post of the American Legion, Seattle, will invade Victoria next Saturday on a two-day excursion. Returned soldiers of this city will give them an enthusiastic welcome. All the local veterans' bodies are combining to entertain the Legionnaires.

The visitors will arrive on Saturday afternoon and will be welcomed at the wharf. In the evening a social gathering will be held in their honor in the Veterans of France auditorium. On the following day a memorial service will take place at the War Memorial, Parliament Square, at 2:30 p.m.

Addresses will be given by the Rev. William Carroll, of this city, and Lieutenant-Colonel Bert C. Ross, of Seattle. Wreaths will be placed on the memorial by the Women's Auxiliaries of the American Legion and of the local organizations. Appropriate hymns will be sung, led by a band. The general public are invited to participate in this service.

Accompanying the party, in addition to Colonel Ross, will be Councilman Phil Tindall, Captain John J. Sullivan, Miss Isabelle Kinnaird, who will place the wreath on the memorial; members of the British-American Association and A. Ronald, commander of the Maple Leaf Post, and other prominent members of the American Legion.

The visitors will return to their homes in Seattle on Sunday afternoon's steamer.

SCHEME PLEAS LORD CLARENDON

UNDER-SECRETARY OF STATE FOR DOMINIONS NOW IN MONTREAL

Says 3,000-Family Scheme Is Working Very Successfully—Women Influence Happiness

MONTREAL, Sept. 21.—The Earl of Clarendon, Under Secretary of State for Dominion Affairs in the British Government, accompanied by Lady Clarendon and his three children, Lord Hyde, Lady Joan Villiers and the Hon. Nicholas Villiers, arrived at Windsor Street station in the private car "Loch Lomond" completing an extensive tour of the Western Provinces, during which His Lordship has been investigating the conditions under which the 3,000-family immigration scheme from Great Britain is working out in this country.

Lord Clarendon, who has only a small portfolio of the Maritime Provinces to visit before his investigation is completed, expressed the opinion in an interview that there is no doubt that the 2,000-family scheme, carried out by the Overseas Settlement League, of which Lord Clarendon is chairman, is one of the most successful schemes of its kind ever attempted. During his tour of the Canadian West he has visited some 150 families located in Canada under this scheme.

"Out of the great number of personal visits I made," said His Lordship, "there were only two or perhaps three cases where the women seemed to be failures. I made careful inquiries into their condition and in all cases found that the reason for their failure lay with the family and not with the scheme. They had the same opportunity as the rest, but lacked the ability to manage their affairs. There was an entirely different condition amongst the other families. About 1,500 of the 3,000 families are already out in Canada and we expect the balance to be absorbed by this time in 1927."

Will Be Developed
Asked if the scheme would be developed after 1927, Lord Clarendon stated that, on account of the success of the scheme so far, this was very probable. The officials of the Overseas Settlement League would have to hold a conference first before any definite statement could be made of future plans.

"The success of the settlement scheme depends almost entirely upon the mothers who come out with their families to Canada," declared His Lordship. "During my journey to the settlement, I weighed this subject in my mind and firmly believe that the happiness of the families and the ultimate success of the venture depends upon the women. Where they seemed happy and cheerful I found invariably that the husband had succeeded with his crops and that he was very glad he had settled in this country."

"One of the main features of our scheme is the proximity of the families to schools. We have given the point careful consideration, for we believe it to be of the utmost importance. The majority of families have been placed within a mile or half a mile from schools. The settlers expressed their appreciation of this fact many times during my visits."

Admires C.P.R. Scheme
"I was impressed with the system employed by the officials in charge of the C.P.R. scheme. I visited one of their settlements at Vermilion, and learned that the families are not placed on adjacent farms, but scattered amongst old settlers. In this way they benefit by the experience of the older settlers. I also want to pay a tribute to the field officers of the Soldiers' Settlement Board, who have paid infinite attention to the families we have brought out and the families count them as their best friends. This is one of the big factors that make for the success of our scheme."

After a short stay in Montreal Lord Clarendon and his family left for Quebec, where Lady Clarendon and the three children sailed on the Empress of Scotland for England. His Lordship will proceed to Sherbrooke, where he will meet T. C. MacNorton, C.M.G., C.B.E., vice-chairman of the Overseas Settlement Committee, and the Major John Barnett, chairman of the Soldiers' Settlement Board at Guelph. They will visit Lower Quebec and the Maritime provinces. When this tour is completed the Earl of Clarendon will have visited about 15 families in Canada personally. He will sail from Quebec on the Empress of France.

If the question of short skirts was left to the men to vote upon the eyes would have it.

EARLY DECISION ON OPERATION EXPECTED

Hemmingsen Property on Malahat, With Valuable Marble Deposit, May Be Developed Soon

It is understood that a decision will be reached shortly with regard to operating the Hemmingsen timber limits on the Malahat, as Mr. Hemmingsen will shortly conclude his contract at Cowichan Lake.

Considerable interest has been attached to the development of this property, owing to the discovery of a good deposit of high grade marble there, promising to be greatly in demand in the building and monumental "marble" trades. The proprietors have a branch line constructed from Malahat Station on the Esquimalt & Nanaimo Railway, and one of the proposed routes for the logging line to serve the limits passes near where the marble quarry will be located. If the proposed testing with diamond drills proves the deposit to be a commercial venture, the far every test applied has been met satisfactorily.

Two companies at Cowichan Lake which have recently suffered by fire are the Scottish Palmer Company, which is working one side, and the Elco Company, whose mill suffered in a fire at Cottonwood. The company has let a contract to Gilson & McCoy for logging.

Shipping to Crofton are the Genoa Company, and to Cowichan Lake the Continental Logging Co. Cameron Brothers are operating at Mill 24. McDonald & Murphy will start at their new location on Thursday. With the exception of a million feet of logs in Cowichan Lake, the Lake Lumber Company has completed the shipment of its logs from its present limits, and will move to new limits on Lot 27, two miles from the south-eastern corner of Cowichan Lake.

On the whole it may be said that the logging industry is active around Cowichan Lake.

PATRONS OF PLAY AID SOLARIUM PROJECT

Lt. Governor R. Randolph Bruce Commends Spirit Behind Scheme to Alleviate Suffering

His Honor, Lt. Governor R. Randolph Bruce, in speaking before the audience attending the presentation of "Pollyanna" at the Coliseum Theatre last night, a play which is being produced for the benefit of the Solarium Fund, said that although it was difficult for those who were sound in mind and body to realize what it meant to be confined to a bed or chair for the rest of their lives, it would not be difficult to give some thought to the poor little bedridden children who were so afflicted, unable to walk and enjoy the great outdoors.

It was highly commendable that such a play as "Pollyanna" should be presented for the aid of these children. His Honor pointed out that a scheme to alleviate this suffering among children had been realized in the Solarium, and Victorians had generously contributed toward this scheme. He thought, however, that the patrons of this play would go away enjoying it even greater when they knew that in patronizing it they had helped furthermore in swelling the funds that would bring happiness, sunshine and an ultimate cure to "these children in our midst."

Mrs. Pendray, representing the Mayor, and city aldermen were other patrons at last night's presentation of "Pollyanna."
